It's no secret that some people are smarter than others. Here are the months that most often produce babies with high IQs.

It's no secret that some people are smarter than others. Here are the months that typically give birth to babies with high IQs .

In fact, research shows that children born in the fall are more likely to excel in school and sports. However, it's unclear whether this advantage is related to external factors—like the influence of the season or the age at which they start school—or is simply a matter of luck.

If your birth month isn't on the list, don't worry, regardless of whether you were born in spring, summer, winter or fall, true intelligence stems from the will to never stop learning and exploring.

January

People born in January are often quiet powerhouses. They don't need to prove that they are smart. Their actions speak for themselves. While everyone else is reacting, they are already formulating a plan, a backup plan, and a silent escape strategy.

They think in terms of timelines and act with purpose. They don't waste time explaining things to people who don't understand them. Their intelligence builds a legacy. Solid, lasting, unshakeable. They're not here for attention. They're here to get results. And when it's time to get things done or reorganize your life, they're the ones you need.

February

People born in February are different and they like it that way. They don't want to fit in. They want to question why the system exists. They challenge what is considered normal and are constantly looking for ways to make things better and more honest.

Their intelligence is groundbreaking. They don't want comfort; they want innovation and change. They can come across as very strong and sharp, but it makes you think. They want to be one step ahead, even if they're waiting for everyone else to catch up.

March

People born in March not only see the world differently, they feel it differently. They live in two worlds, one that remembers everything that happened and one that imagines how it could have been better. They have this quiet wisdom because they have lived their lives to the fullest and remain curious about the world around them.

They don't say what they know out loud, but when they do, people acknowledge it. They don't need to argue their point of view. They are the point of view. What sets this group apart is their intelligence, which comes through in their questions, their energy, and the way they make you rethink things you thought you knew.

September

If someone born in September is paying attention to you, know that they are picking up on everything. Tone, timing, body language, everything. They are mentally intelligent, but what really makes them smart is how they read people and energy. They know when something is wrong before the other person says it. Their attention is always intentional.

People born in this month are extremely loyal when it comes to love. They don't just collect information; they collect meaningful relationships. That's what makes them strong and unforgettable.

November

People born in November possess an intelligence that is not loud, but lingering. They are made to penetrate deep into the hearts of people and themselves.

They are the ones who ask the questions most people are afraid to ask. They don't shy away from difficult conversations. They initiate them. They listen to what you say and pick up on what you don't say. Being with them can be like psychic surgery. Necessary, slightly uncomfortable, and unforgettable. You can't pretend with them. They always know how to bring out the truth.
