

Photoshop CS: Fire storm

1. Press D to default to the black and white background
2. Open a new Document 500 x 370 px - White background (#ffffff)

1. Press D to default to the black and white background

2. Open a new Document 500 x 370 px - White background (#ffffff)

3. Filter > Render > Clouds

4. Filter > Sketch > Graphic pen and set the properties as shown below.

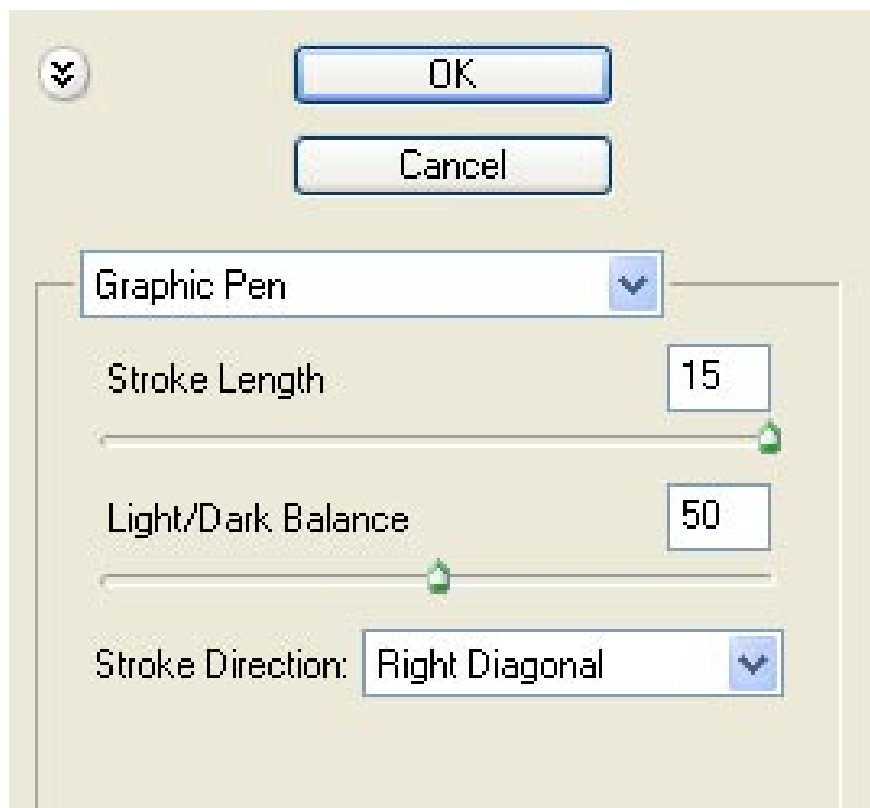

Figure 1

Effect result:

Figure 2

5. Filter > Blur > Radial blur > set properties

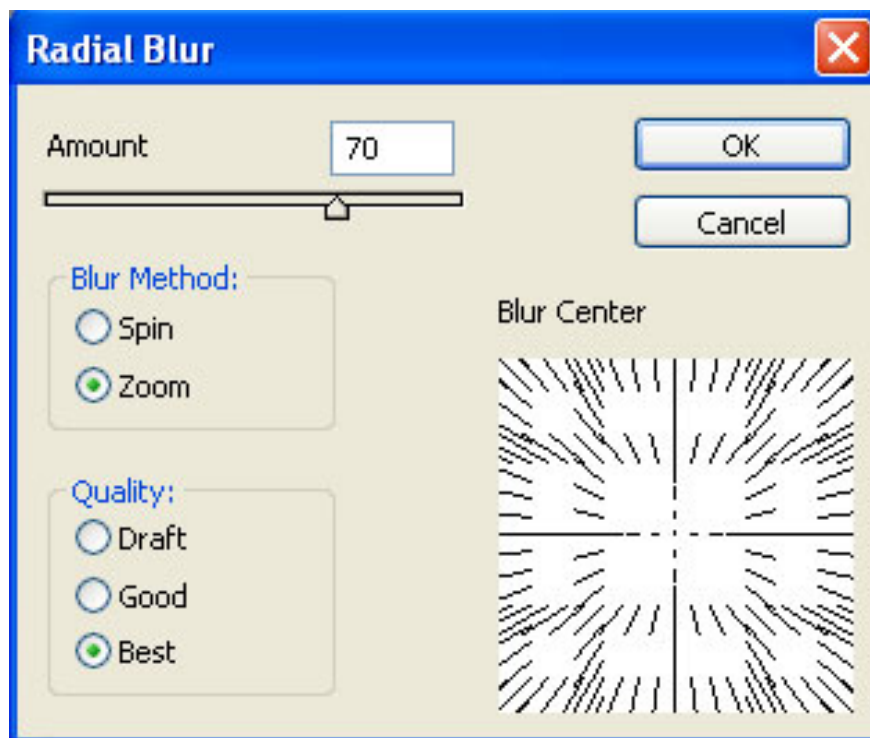

Figure 3

6. Filter > Disort > Ocean ripple

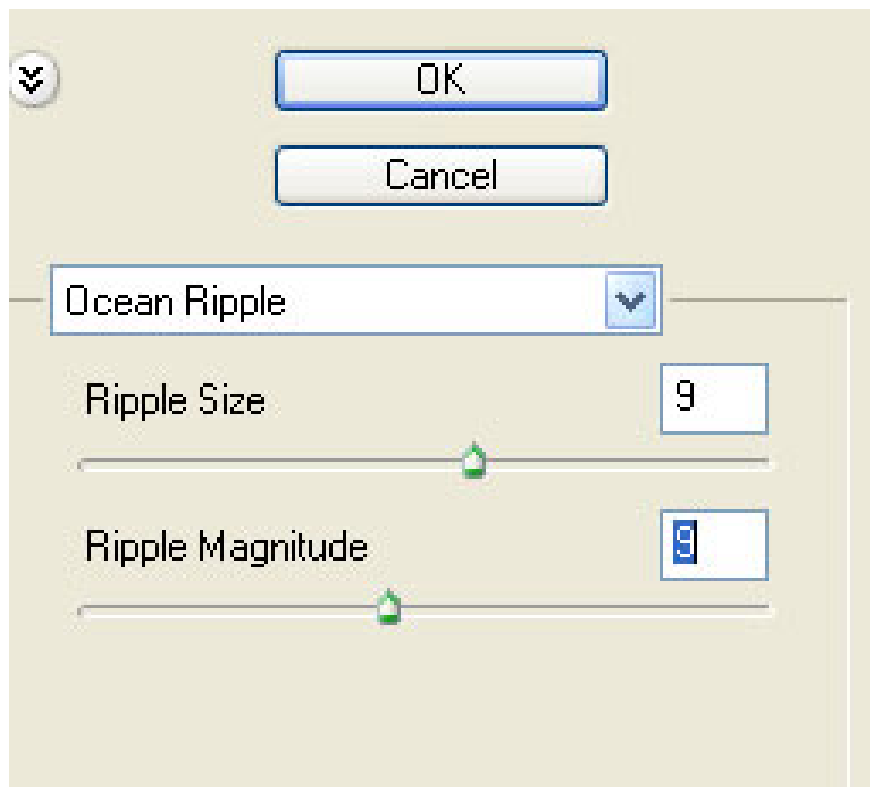

Figure 4
Effect results

Figure 5

7. Filter > Disort > Twirl

+ Angle : 395

Figure 6

Figure 7

8. Duplicate the layer

- Right click on Background > Duplicate layer (or press Ctrl + J)

- Name the new layer "Delicious"

9. Rotate the layer "delicious" against the Background layer

- Click "delicious" layer

- Edit > Transform > Flip Horizontal

10. Right-click the layer "Slither" > Blending option > choose Blend mode : Lighten

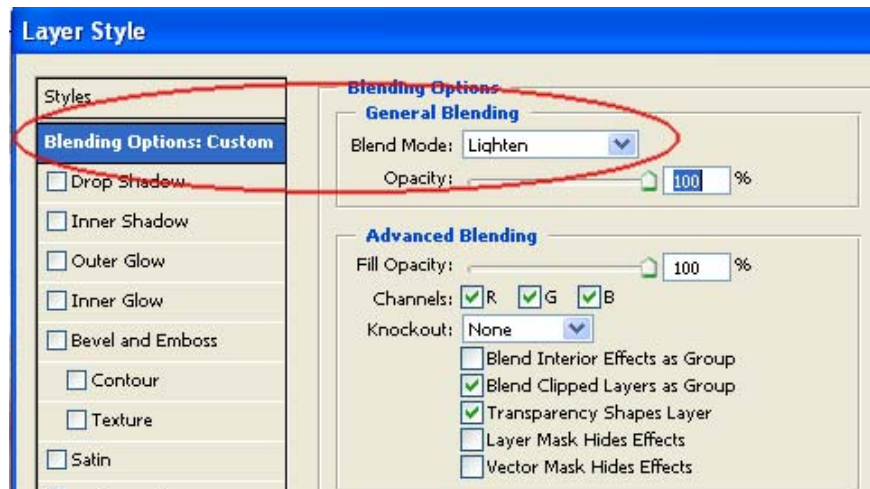

Figure 8

11. Click the Fill layer fill icon or adjustments > Color Balance

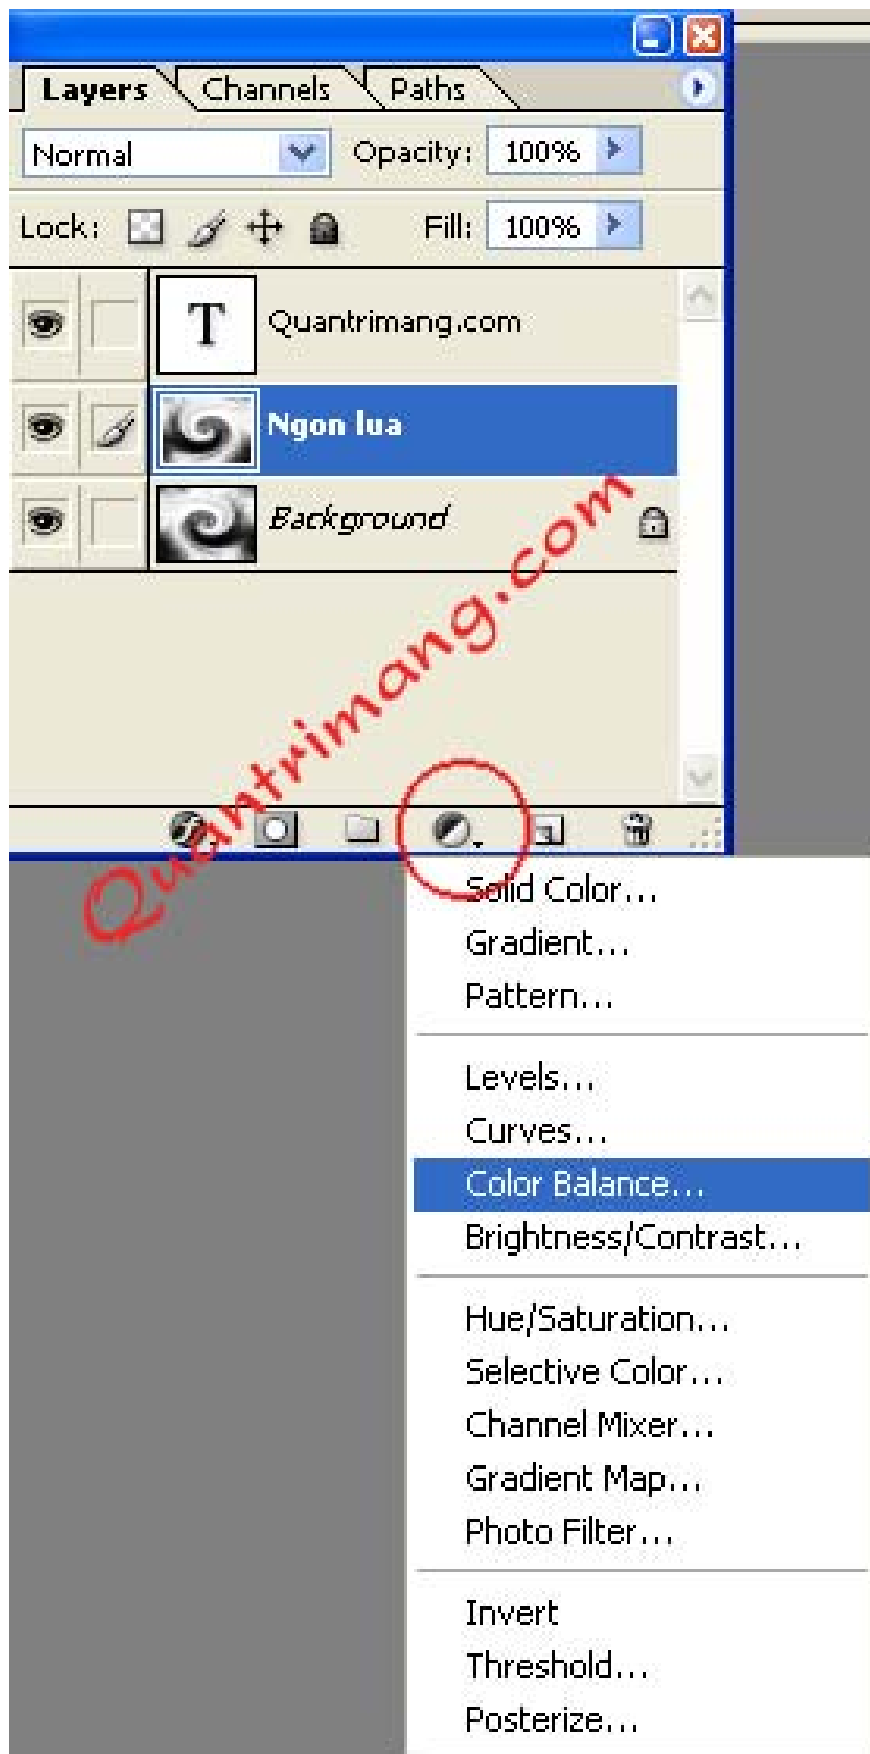

Figure 9

- Select Midtones: +100, 0, -100

Figure 10

12. Perform the duplication of the layer (Ctrl + J) "Color balance" 1 or 2 times to increase the yellow color of the flame

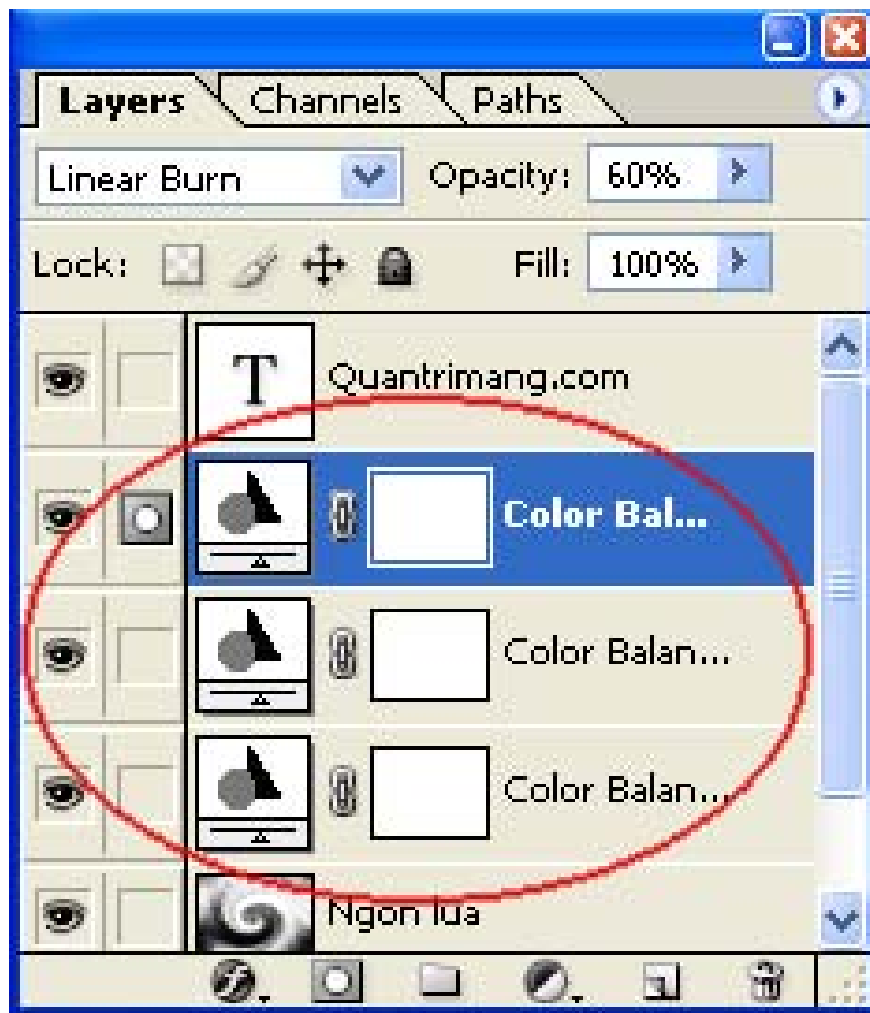

Figure 11

13. Click panner Color balance copy last > Blending options > select Blend mode : linear Burn

Figure 12

14. Change the image direction when necessary.

Final result:

Figure 13

Ngoc Lan (Translating and practicing according to the graphic world)

You finished reading the article "Photoshop CS: Fire storm" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
