

Photoshop for everyone: Create caricatures

You've probably seen cartoons like 'big heads' in newspapers. With Photoshop, you can do that easily by following these steps:

You may have seen caricatures in the way of "big heads" in newspapers. With Photoshop, you can do that easily by following these steps:

- Open a "victim" image, then separate the image from the background in many ways. Here I use the Polygonal Lasso Tool to draw and select the object, press Ctrl + Shift + I then press Delete to delete the background.
- Select the Magnetic Lasso Tool and make a selection around the top of the object (Figure 1).
- Press Ctrl + J to duplicate the head. In your Layers Palette, there are two layers: 1 is the head and 2 is the body (Figure 2).

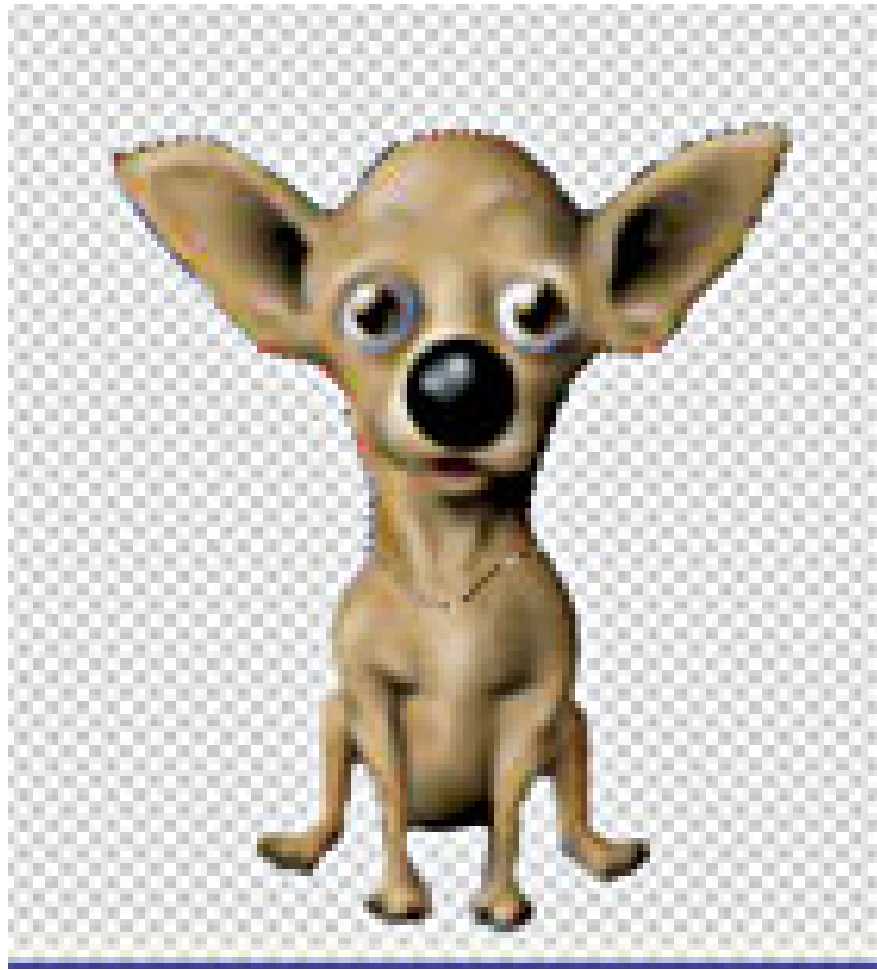

Figure 1

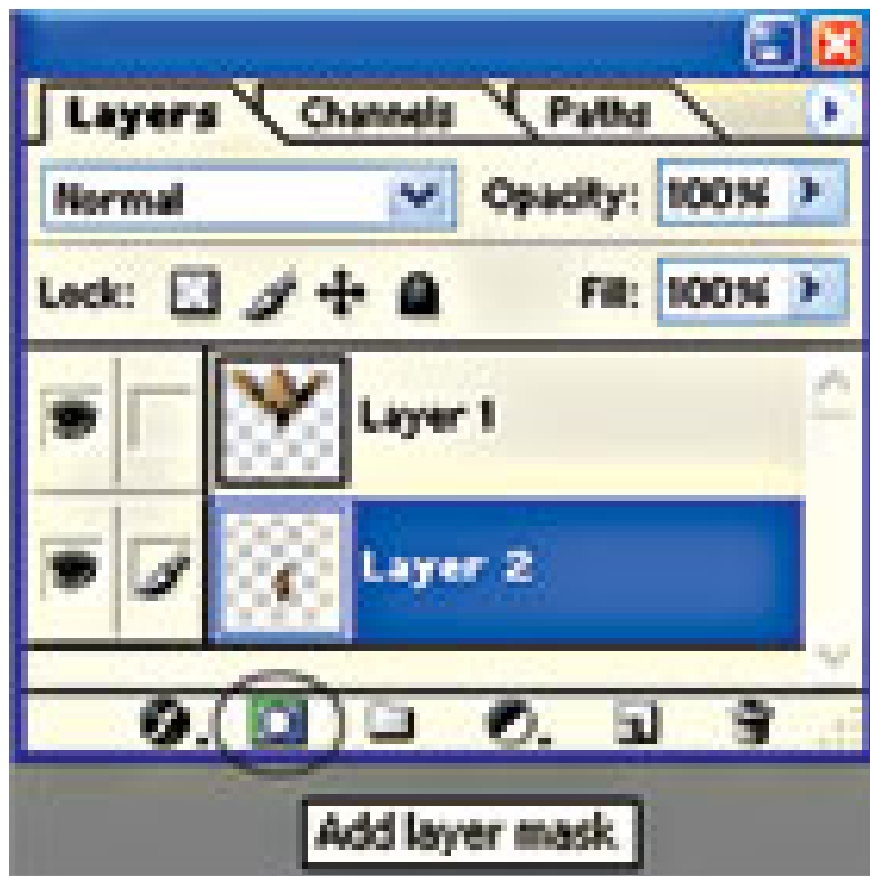

Figure 2

Figure 3

- On the body layer, press Ctrl + T on the transform command to minimize it until you are satisfied.
- Select the top layer and press Ctrl + T to insert it into the picture, pay attention to arrange accordingly.
- Finally, select the Add layer mask button and change the foreground color to black and erase the excess areas (Figure 2). We get the result as shown in Figure 3.

Lam Khe

You finished reading the article "Photoshop for everyone: Create caricatures" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.