Google Tic Tac Toe is a game that is on the list of mini games when you search on Google. Along with a series of other mini games, Google Tic Tac Toe is a game that many people often look for when they want to "kill time".

How to play Google Tic Tac Toe

Step 1: To play Caro on Google, you just need to search for the keyword " c? ca-rô trên google", or Tic tac toe or Noughts and Crosses. Immediately below the search content, the Caro game board will appear. This Caro will be played on a 3x3 board.

Step 2: Choose the levels from Easy to Impossible and start playing. If you have friends around, you can select Play with Friends below.

Step 3: When you finish the game with the bot, select Restart game as shown below.

Step 3: Most of the time the result will be a draw and you will quickly restart the game. Since there are only 3x3 tiles, it is quite easy for you to block the bot's path. However, you still have to consider a bit before deciding which square to fill on the board.

Similarly on smartphone, use any browser and search for the keyword "c? ca-rô trên google" or right in the Google app, you will see the game displayed below. Choose the difficulty and start playing.

Why is Google Tic Tac Toe only 3x3?

If you see Google's Checkers game with only 3x3 tiles, you might be confusing it with Tic-Tac-Toe. These are two completely different games and here are some of the differences between the two, even though they both have checkers and use X's and Os to move.

The Difference Between Tic-Tac-Toe and Tic-Tac-Toe

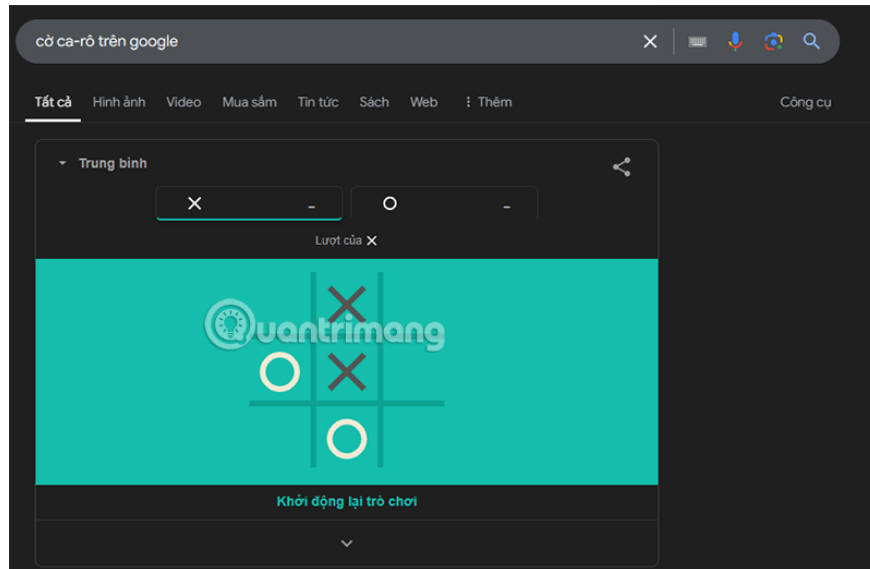

Tic-Tac-Toe and Gomoku are both strategy games played on a grid-based board, but they differ greatly in board size, rules, difficulty, and strategy.

| Criteria                    | Tic-Tac-Toe (OX)  | Gomoku  |
|-----------------------------|---|---|
| Source               | Appeared in ancient Rome, popular in the West.  | Originated in Edo period Japan, then spread to Asia.  |
| Other names          | OX, Noughts and Crosses   | Five in a Row   |
| Chessboard size      | 3x3 fixed   | 15x15 (standard), can be played on larger tables (19x19, 17x17, etc.)   |
| How to play          | Two players take turns marking an X or O on an empty square on a 3x3 grid.           | Two players take turns placing an X or O on an empty square on the larger board.   |
| Winning goal         | Line up 3 consecutive marks horizontally, vertically or diagonally to win.                  | Line up 5 consecutive marks horizontally, vertically or diagonally to win.  |
| Play time            | Very short (under 1 minute per game).   | It can last from a few minutes to tens of minutes, depending on the strategy.   |
| Possible outcomes    | Win, lose or draw (due to the small board, most games will end in a draw).           | Win or lose , rarely draw because the board is larger.   |
| Difficulty           | Simple , easy to play, few tactical variations.                                      | Complex , need to calculate the moves in advance, many advanced tactics.   |
| Popular strategies   | - Occupy a central position to control the game. - Predict and block your opponent's moves. | - Play with a "two-way opening" strategy to have many directions for development. - Use a "block the opponent" or "trap" strategy to put pressure. - Renju rules prohibit some moves to balance the game. |
| Balance              | The first mover has a big advantage and is more likely to win.                              | First mover has advantage, but there are restrictions like Renju, Swap to balance.   |
| Popular Applications | Google Doodle, Minigame on Facebook, simple mobile game.                                    | Professional tournament, high strategy game.  |

Why does Tic-Tac-Toe only have 3x3 cells?

1. Easy to play, easy to approach : Tic-Tac-Toe is suitable for both children and beginners.

2. Short Time : A game of Tic-Tac-Toe ends very quickly, while a game of Tic Tac Toe can last longer.
3. Popular on digital platforms : Google, and many gaming websites often deploy Tic-Tac-Toe more because of its simplicity.
4. Space constraints : On mobile devices, a 3x3 board is more visible than a 15x15.

Google Tic Tac Toe is arguably one of the fastest mini games to play, unlike Snake or Block Breaker, Solitaire or other games.
