

Plot Final Fantasy VII Remake - Part 4: The nightlife is complicated

Falling on the roof of the church is still alive, it is unclear whether the lives of the characters in Final Fantasy VII Remake are too good or if our Cloud is really too cattle.

Falling on the roof of the church is still alive, it is unclear whether the lives of the characters in Final Fantasy VII Remake are too good or if our Cloud is really too cattle.

Chapter 8: Budding Bodyguard

After the explosion caused by the Airbuster, Cloud falls from the factory site to the bottom. While still unconscious due to his over-landing, he saw the Enigmatic Specter ghosts hovering around him as well as having a brief conversation with his inner self and . Sephiroth. Upon awakening, the spiked man saw the florist Aerith looking at her with worried eyes, as it turned out that he had fallen from the factory above to the Sector 5 slum below. During the Cloud landing process, the roof of the church made a large hole as well as crushed a bunch of flowers due to Aerith.grow. In the ensuing conversation, the prostitute wants Cloud to be her bodyguard and escorts her home, of course he will agree but after accepting the job, Reno and the Shinra soldiers have gathered to surround the church. As an effective member of Turk, Reno will cause many difficulties when possessing extremely agile moving skills and lightning attacks, but he is ultimately defeated by Cloud.

The Shinra soldiers get more and more crowded, so escaping from Aerith will pull Cloud away by climbing the roof of the church. In the process of moving on the upper floors, it can be noticed that the Enigmatic Specter will save the prostitute when she almost falls while moving on the crossbars. It is not clear at this point what these ghosts are, what role they play, or whether they have a good or bad influence on the main characters. Returning to the other two siblings, after crossing the rooftops of various houses, they would leave the area being blocked by Shinra. It is admirable that the number of peaches of the former SOLDIER, wherever he goes, he also has the opportunity to listen. Going with Jessie, hugging each other on the motorcycle, with Tifa is a gift of flowers full of apricot flowers and a cocktail session made by herself. Now with the girl with duckweed flowers, The drop was even more bloody as she slipped and fell down the stairs and the young man did not delay at all to perform a princess hug.

When they arrived at the train station, they learned that the train had to temporarily halt operation due to the explosion at the No. 5 reactor, while hovering there they met Shinra's helicopter landing to release a well-dressed agent. just like Reno earlier encountered in the church. Different from the limp-looking appearance of the redhead, the bald guy always attached to the black glasses named Rude looked much harder to play. In order to avoid trouble, Cloud and Aerith decide to 'cut the alley' and wriggle through narrow streets to avoid the annoying Turks. Their goal was to move to the Center District of the Sector 5 slums. In the central square of the area, the broadcaster was broadcasting live on the scene of the attack on the No. 5 reactor. No wonder Scarlet, Shinra Group's head of weapons development quickly poured all the blame onto Avalanche's group with compelling evidence that a CCTV segment had been cut.

Here it is seen that Aerith seems to be very close to the children in the area, at first they seem to be very cautious about Cloud's giant sword but having a flower girl as a medium mediate everything is fine. After several conversations with the kind doctor and the Leaf House orphan woman's manager, Aerith takes Cloud home and introduces the former SOLDIER to her mother. The conversation was quite open when Elmyra did not have any abnormal attitude, she even agreed when the flower girl wanted to lead the spearhead to Sector 7. There was something she said today was a bit late. then, if Aerith comes to Sector 7 then comes back then it will be very dark and vulnerable. If nothing is too urgent, take Cloud tomorrow. Return to the center of town to help find the missing children, Cloud meets a guy quite similar to Marco in the next room while in Sector 7, except that his arm is tattooed No. 2.

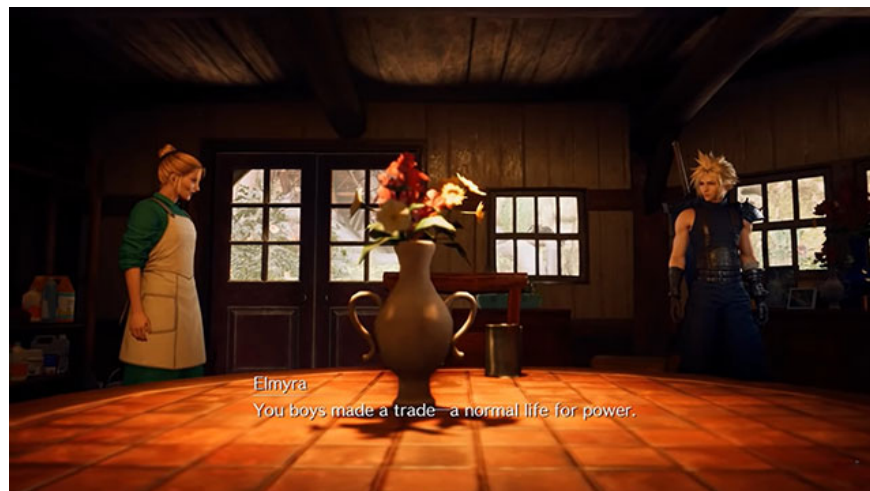

Plot Final Fantasy VII Remake - Part 3: It was time Shinra wanted to fall

Different from the comfortable blast of the # 1 furnace that Shinra intentionally opened and closed with his eyes closed, this time Avalanche and Cloud picked up all sorts of different troubles.

Similar to the previous time, when Sephiroth was touched by this second person, he would see Sephiroth's image, this time, he advised Cloud not to be afraid of some 'reunion' plan. The young man began to lose his temper again, but Aerith seemed to have some strength that quickly stabilized him. Through the answers of the girl in the conversation, we will know that Sephiroth was a hero in the SOLDIER forces when participating in many major campaigns but 5 years ago he was killed in an accident. rare. This makes people extremely confused when not sure what the guy Sephiroth sometimes appears and talks to Cloud all the time from now on? Trans-Vietnamese people? Ghost? Or the illusion of time? And the mysterious Enigmatic Specter and the wrong plan to reunite with the guys in robes. Leaving that aside for now, when returning to Aerith's house for dinner the group would encounter Rude, the bald guy who at first knew was very strong at the train station.

Different from the escape when he met Reno, this time the brave girl jumped out and told Cloud not to be fooled by his appearance because Rude was not as bad as his cold, bland appearance. But whatever you say, you have to beat each other in a game to be able to hand over the job. After the battle with Cloud, Rude is still very energetic and still wants to fight, but Turk's headquarters has called to hand over something more urgent so the bald man, despite not volunteering, still has to leave the helicopter. go. Before entering the diner, Aerith and Cloud enlist a little walk around the garden and people have the opportunity to doubt in the end what kind of god this lady is when she possesses many mysterious powers such as communicating with reality. Such things. They went back to the house to have dinner but were fed by Mrs. Elmyra . cursing like slapping water for going out all afternoon. When Aerith went upstairs to arrange a room for Cloud to rest for the night, her mother's attitude began to change, appearing harshly to Cloud and even asking him to leave this night.

While the atmosphere was tense, when Aerith stepped into the room, she realized that the conversation between her boyfriend and her mother was a little wrong. That night while lying on his back in bed, Cloud recalled what his mother had said so he decided to leave Elmyra's home alone to return to Sector 7. Down to the living room, the nasty old lady Elmyra waited. only willing to force Cloud to promise never to see Aerith again, Cloud quickly accepted the request without thinking that very soon he would have to break his promise.

Chapter 9: The Town That Never Sleeps

In order to return to Sector 7, he must cross Sector 6, and through the portal between the regions, Cloud suddenly sees Aerith standing there waiting for him from time to time, and there is nothing to hide the intuition of women. As they moved through the hills, from afar they could see the bright lights at Wall Market red light district. This is Midgar's most complex area where one can find every legal and illegal activity coexisting. As Aerith said, Midgar's working residents are so tired of their daily work that they need a place to vent their discontent in life. Foreseeing that mentality, the merchants quickly built an area that later became known as the Wall Market, which consisted of a combination of dining, entertainment, sexy bars, massage parlors, arenas. Managers know the corruption of this area but for the sake of the money they pay, they are willing to turn a blind eye to the decadence of the red light district overwhelming traditional values.

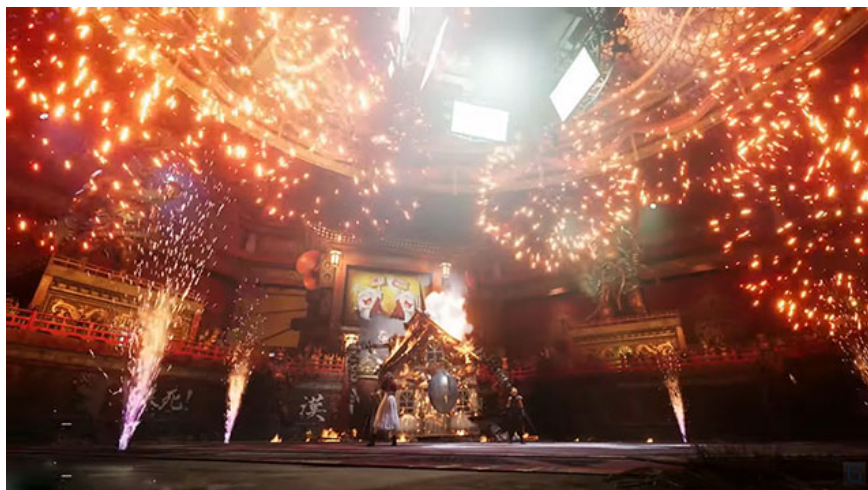

Passing through the underground tunnel, the two find the abandoned Evergreen Park located at the intersection of Sector 6 and Sector 7. living. It turned out that this place used to be the former prostitute's business area before it became so bad for some reason. Talking more about Aerith's past, Cloud learns that the first man she ever loved was a First Class SOLDIER like her. Of course it was a thing of the past and now they broke up, maybe this was also the reason Elmyra had an unkind attitude towards the mercenary. Then, when Aerith said the name of her ex, Cloud's consciousness suddenly became disturbed, making it impossible for him to know the other's name. After resting, they continued the journey, At this moment, Cloud sees Tifa dressed extremely hot, sitting on a chicken cart to move to the red light district of Wall Market.

The former SOLDIER easily got along with his friend but Tifa had no intention of leaving that place. She tells Cloud to be relieved because she knows what she is doing and can handle everything well, and asks him to return to the bar 7th. Heaven to gather with the members of Avalanche to wait for news. Cloud wonders if he should listen to her friend or not because on the one hand, Tifa is a violent female powerhouse, who can survive under her fist? On the other hand, the enemy was strong, the advantage of the area and the corrupt reputation of the old Don Corneo were already famous, so Cloud was very worried. While still wondering, Aerith decided that the two would have to storm into the boss's mansion to save Tifa because the prostitute was doing business here anyway, so she knew what the benefit of Don Corneo was. According to Chocobo Sam, who runs the chicken carriage line, Tifa will become the candidate for the 'bride' position Corneo graces tonight.

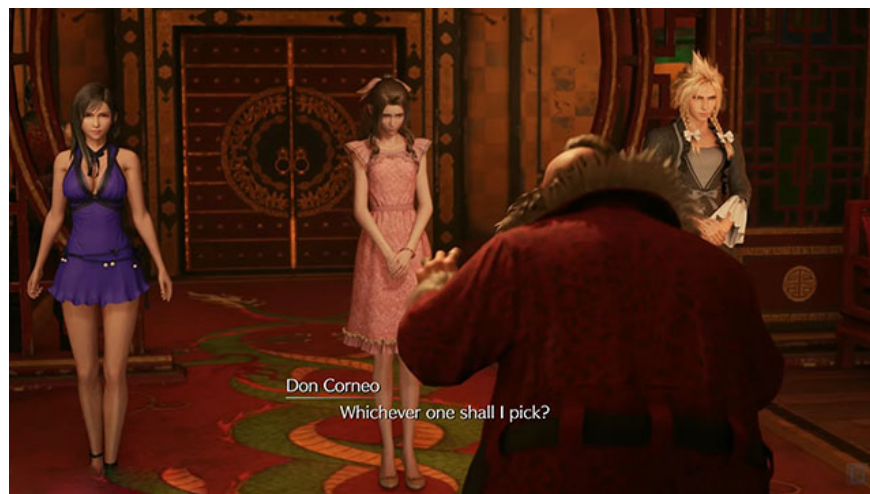

At the metamorphosis of the perverted old goat, Cloud and Aerith are stopped by his men. The pointy-headed man is too obvious because he is a man that Don Corneo does not like to play gay while the prostitute who is criticized by his long-time men is too 'alright' with insufficient temperament to become one of the candidates. the bride. In order to break into that they will have to seek additional help from other forces. According to information provided by Leslie, if he wants to catch the eye of Don Corneo, he must have the help of The Trio, who is extremely knowledgeable about his taste. The first one to meet just now, was Chocobo Sam, the second being the mistress Madam M who ran the largest massage shop on Wall Market. The last, most mysterious and unpredictable character is Andrea Rhodea, a master dancer who also owns the Honeybee Inn bar. Chocobo Sam has a weird personality, Andrea Rhodea saw her head did not see the tail, only Madam M was relatively easy to talk with.

She agrees to help Aerith prepare a nice dress, providing Liem Barber-sized hairdresser and jewelry freely to choose at a very affordable price, even Cloud does not have to pay for beauty services. , just be a Madam M representative gladiator and help her win the underworld tournament. Cloud isn't inherently rich, so he strongly approves of her idea of ??fighting for free. Of course, the organization of the fighting tournament in the underworld is not easy to eat, all kinds of methods to cheat have been applied but in the end, the two of them still won. Their crisp winning streak caused the audience to change their attitudes from initial scrutiny to enthusiastic support. The lively atmosphere caused the old Don Corneo to change the formula forcing Cloud to confront the terrible monster Hell House to increase excitement for the game. Although quite annoying, the monster is finally defeated, in addition to Cloud's courage also makes one of the three bosses, Andrea Rhodea, be moved.

Madam M is very pleased with Cloud's victory, she also kept her promise when turning Aerith from a cute but somewhat bewildered girl into a gorgeous princess that everyone wants to penetrate to measure. watch her shallow. However, the trouble hasn't ended when the beautiful florist is okay, but how can Cloud accompany her into the mansion when Don Corneo is not playing gay? At this time, the effect of Andrea Rhodea fully develops when the bar owner will help Cloud disguise as a beauty with a cool temperament. Of course Andrea won't do this for free like Madam M, and ask Cloud to dance with him first. Sitting still in the audience, you can see that the flower girl is extremely excited when she sees his friend dancing, with strange boys and then the owner of the shop and the staff pressed to disguise themselves as beautiful women.

Eventually, the show ended, and after a great excitement, Aerith came up with a plan that Cloud would put on a fake girl outfit to join her in saving Tifa. Although very uncomfortable with the costumes of women because beautiful girls Cloud will close his eyes to sacrifice his dignity. Returning to Don Corneo's metamorphosis old man, pimp Leslie will quickly let Cloud and Aerith clear customs through letters of recommendation from elders Madam M and Andrea Rhodea. Arriving at the storage room, they were suddenly anesthetized by the men and women to ease their control, but thanks to that, the siblings were quickly reunited with her friend Tifa in the basement. After getting ready, they entered the main room to begin the selection round for the bride, where the old Don Corneo goat officially appeared. Take a moment to carefully watch the old Don wants to choose Tifa because of her sexy breasts, but when he was mocked by Cloud, he suddenly changed his mind because he wanted to try the thrill of conquering a stubborn stubborn female. .

When taking Cloud to his room to prepare for his actions, Don Corneo immediately reveals the nature of a perverted perverted pervert while wandering around the 'beauty' and shows extreme excitement when he is cursed by Cloud. by terrible. Even the room used to house the brides of the bride was designed by Corneo with panoramic cameras to record the 18+ moments between him and the victims of his choice. Back to Tifa and Aerith, when the boss is not selected the remaining candidates will be divided by Corneo's juniors to enjoy. Of course, that's the story of previous times, but now when Tifa violence against female player Smackdown Aerith does not know who will devour anyone. After the professional wrestling tournament of the year, The victory was in Aerith's when she received an absolute score from the audience thanks to the skillful use of iron chairs.

Knocking out all the wrong ear-to-ear, the two girls dressed in civilian clothes then wrapped their clothes in search of Cloud. Don Corneo is very angry right now because he was kicked by the former SOLDIER member, but he would not have expected his situation to be even more tragic when he was about to witness another man changing in front of him. mine. Tifa begins to question Corneo about whom Avalanche's juniors would gather to hand over to him, but he is very mischievous, only to be honest when Cloud asks to castrate his knife. The hiring stranger is Captain Heidegger, and according to Don Corneo, Shinra is plotting to blow up the slums in Sector 7 in retaliation for the two reactors. The group's specific plan is to send people to install self-destruct code into the energy tower in the regional center. When Cloud and the two girls want to return to Sector 7 to notify Barret and the other members, Corneo smiles and flips the joystick to cause the three to fall into the sewer beneath the bedroom.

This is an article in a series of Final Fantasy VII Remake Plots

You finished reading the article "Plot Final Fantasy VII Remake - Part 4: The nightlife is complicated" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.