

Practical view of HP Slate

HP Slate is equipped with a USB port, SD card slot and function keys, and is especially able to extend the HDMI port with a docking station.

HP Slate is equipped with a USB port, SD card slot and function keys, and is especially able to extend the HDMI port with a docking station.

Slate has a different style than the previously revealed images. Machine hardware including Intel Atom Z540 processor speed of 1.86 GHz, 2GB of RAM, 64GB SSD hard drive and Broadcom's Crystal HD graphics package to help speed up the processing of standard Full video 1080p HD.

It sells for 799 USD on HP sales website.

Here are some real photos:

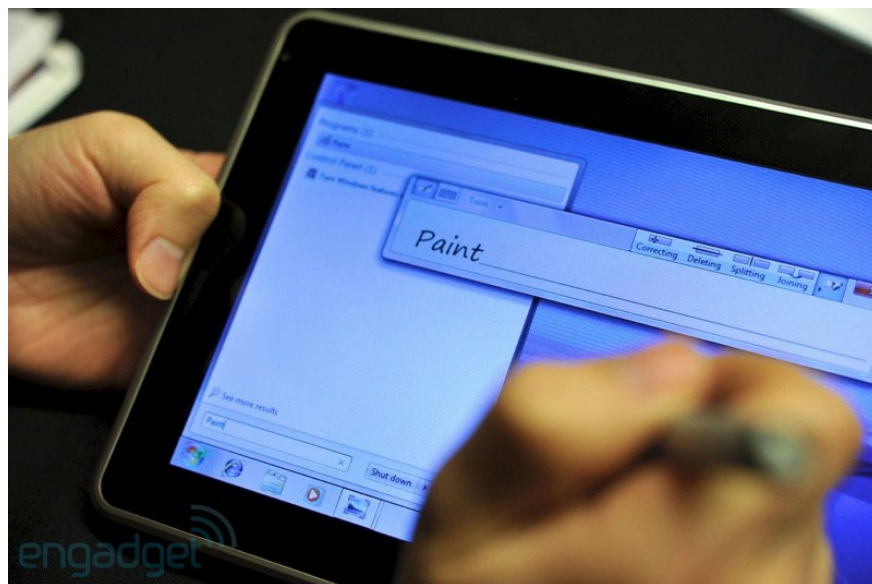

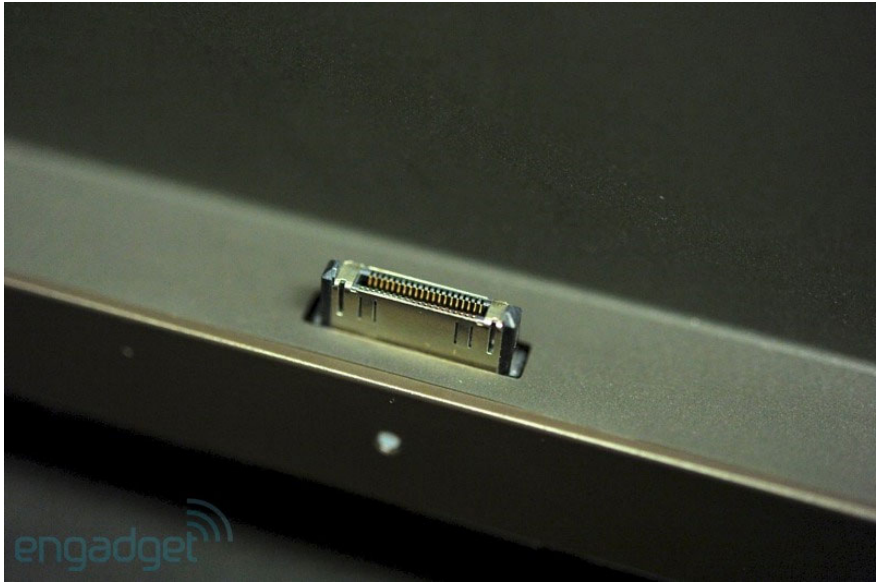

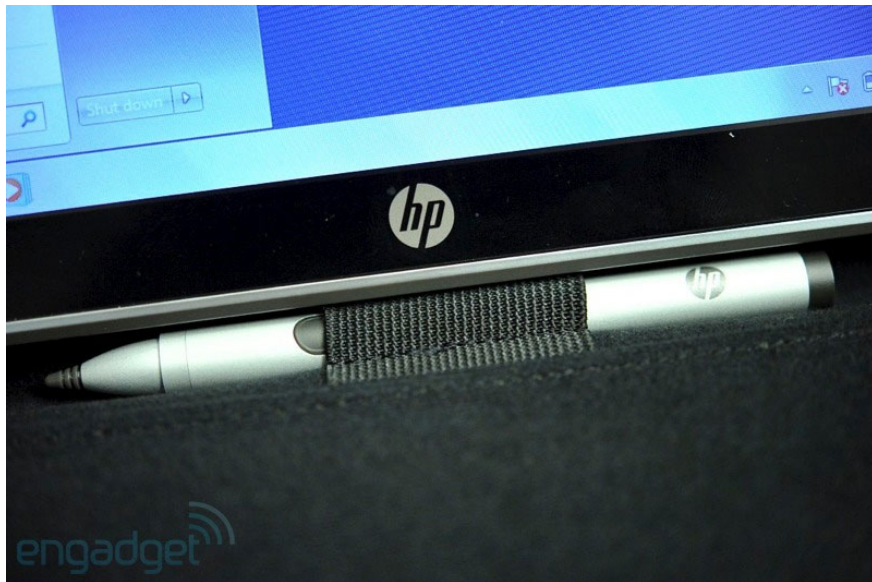

Photo: Engadget.

You finished reading the article "Practical view of HP Slate" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

© 2019 TipsMake.com