

Private messaging, video calling on Tox Chat

Tox Chat is a private chat and video call application that automatically exits the user system, preventing malicious software from entering.

The demand for searching messaging and video calling applications is increasing when the privacy of users is always concerned. Tox Chat is a video calling and peer-to-peer messaging protocol, so it ensures the privacy of the message content because it's encrypted. Tox Chat is supported on many different platforms so users can text on any device. The following article will guide you how to use Tox Chat.

Instructions for safe chatting on Tox Chat

Step 1:

Users visit the link below to download Tox Chat software to a computer or other device. There are two versions of qTox, which are full of video chat, call, send files, take screenshots, group chats and the lighter uTox version, except audio chat in the chat group.

<https://tox.chat/download.html>

Step 2:

At the beginning of the user name, name and password, and click Create Profile .

Step 3:

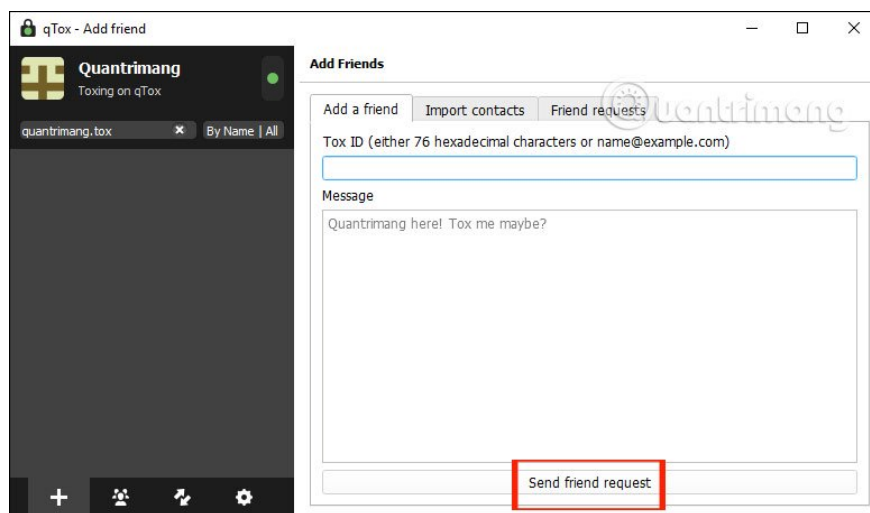

After you have created the user account provided ID and will use this ID to make friends. To get the ID , we click on the square icon next to the account name in the upper left. You will then be transferred to the new interface and then copy the ID at this interface at Your Tox ID . Or users can share via QR code.

Also in this interface you can change the name or status if desired.

Step 4:

Next to make friends on Tox Chat , users click on the plus icon and select Add a friend . Then enter the Tox ID of the person you want to make friends with . Then write the message and press Send friend request to send the invitation.

Step 5:

In the text box, you can call video, text, voice or send files as usual. When you send a file to others, they have the right to refuse receiving the file. If you want to receive the file, press the check button and choose a location to save the file.

Step 6:

If you want to create a group chat, click the group icon and select Create new group and name the group. Then right-click on the person you want to invite to the group and select Invite to group and select the group to join.

You finished reading the article "Private messaging, video calling on Tox Chat" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.