

Protect iPhone, iPad better

Owning Apple's high-end technology products, such as iPhone, iPad, you will surely 'lift like eggs, like flowers'. The former is in protecting the beautiful, shiny form of the device; The latter is the preservation and use of the device so that it is most stable.

Owning Apple's high-end technology products, such as iPhone, iPad, you will surely 'lift like eggs, like flowers'. The former is in protecting the beautiful, shiny form of the device; The latter is the preservation and use of the device so that it is most stable.

iPhone, iPad protective cover

Wearing specials are flat and thin products, so iPhone and iPad are perfectly suitable to wear the beautiful 'wings' and protect the device. When buying a case for the iPhone, iPad you don't have to worry about the inconvenience of using it, because the product is designed to not have to turn on the screen like a laptop, and there are not too many dynamic joints. The market for iPad and iPhone covers today is quite diverse, all types, colors and materials.

When buying, you should choose a thick cover if the safety problem for your device is dropped is your most important concern. In addition, you can choose a thin cover, the material is capable of collecting heat from the device and radiating heat to a very good environment to ensure stability and long-term operation. As for the design, you can choose according to your preferences, there are all types of cover only on the back and front of the screen, there are also types designed to add extra parts to keep the machine standing on the table.

For example, the Targus shell has a glossy black finish, designed to keep the iPad standing on the table. When the machine is turned off, the cover will cover both the back and the entire screen of the device. Reference price: 79.91USD.

For iPad also has iSkin shell showing modern style, bright colors, quite suitable for young people who love technology. There are many models of this type of shell with quite different prices, in which the product has a moderate price of 26.31USD.

The above products are available at www.amazon.com .

With the iPhone, you don't have many options to choose from like the iPad. Most of the casings are designed with full back and contour on the screen of the iPhone, only different in patterns, colors and materials. The price of each shell is usually sold in the cheapest market, about 20,000 VND to 60,000 VND, however, it is impossible not to mention some higher-priced premium shells, as well as other features included.

Storage of equipment

After wearing a 'jacket' for iPhone, iPad, you have somewhat helped the product to be safe with bumps or falls. However, on the other hand, usage habits will also determine the durability of the device.

The most interesting thing is temperature. When you see the surrounding environment is hot, you should turn off or limit heavy tasks that make the CPU on the device have to operate strongly and radiate high heat.

In addition, if you use the device for a long time, especially with the iPhone (when listening or calling), you should remove the protective case, then after stopping the use for about 10 to 15 minutes, it must be attached again. .

You finished reading the article "Protect iPhone, iPad better" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.