

PUBG Mobile: Some Infection mode play tips

Some experience playing Zombie Infection Mode PUBG Mobile mode

The Zombie Infection mode in PUBG Mobile has been around for a while, and with such a small-scale mode and simple gameplay, for a short time the player is familiar with this Infection PUBG Mobile mode. .

And if you have ever experienced playing zombie modes in shooter titles like Raid, Counter, Counter Strike Online . then you will definitely know what to do when choosing this mode.

For those who have not had experience, so far only run and loot, but now want to participate in this mode, you can look at a few tips to play Zombie Infection PUBG Mobile mode in this article, surely these tips will help you get used to it faster.

1. How to prevent the phone from overheating when playing PUBG Mobile
2. Information about three new Zombie types in Infection PUBG Mobile mode
3. How to download and play PUBG Mobile Lite on low profile phones

Some tips for playing Zombie Infection PUBG Mobile mode

Select the location when the countdown time is about to expire

When you first enter the battle, you will have 20 seconds before the server "assigns" randomly 3 players to turn into zombies. At this point, most gamers will look to defensive locations and certainly huddle together like this one.

At least 3 to 4 players stand back together to defend against zombie attacks. But maybe, one of them turns into a zombie and can turn to attack the others. With just a slap, the normal player will turn into a zombie soon after.

Let me stand a few meters away from the other players. If no one in that place turns into a zombie, immediately gather with them and defend against other zombies. If you turn into a Zombie yourself, you know what to do.

Choose a defensive area

The Defenders or Vanquishers faction need to choose a good defensive base on high, or only a small path. You cannot defend in a location where zombies easily attack. There are three pretty defensive points, corresponding to the three letters A, B, and C recorded on the wall that you can see.

For example, at point C, zombies have only one path to the defense. Or at point A, zombies will not easily climb back when attacked and fall and at the same point B. Whichever point you see there are many Defenders, wait for the countdown to see if they turn into zombies, or join them.

Load

In Zombie Infection PUBG Mobile mode, players will not need to go looking for weapons and ammunition. All gamers will be equipped with two AKM and M416 guns, each with a number of 660 bullets.

And though both are equipped with the Jungle Style Mag with the number of bullets up to 60 capsules per band. A total of 120, but if you defend zombies with a small number of people (2-3 people), you must always leave the gun in full ammo and reload even if you have half a shot.

If all of them change bullets at the same time, but the zombies in front of them are likely, they will attack you. So in your defensive position, there must always be at least 1-2 people who still have enough bullets to shoot, this person will run out of bullets, the other will shoot to prevent zombies from attacking.

Take advantage of boils

This tip is for the Zombie side, when only 3 Defenders are alive, automatically these three will turn into super Vanquishers. Only take "cold goods" to slash at each other with Zombies and if the dead zombies at Vanquishers' hands are dead and cannot be resurrected, at the same time the new ring appears.

This ring only affects the Vanquishers and does not affect every zombie on the map. So the range of zombies will now be wider than the Vanquishers.

And the zombies should take advantage of this ring damage to escape the Vanquishers if attacked. Run outside the ring and stand still to heal, then run back to the bo to attack the Vanquishers.

Those are some of the Infection PUBG Mobile player experience that will help you survive the zombie horde or win the battle against the Vanquishers. Whatever the trick, stay focused when fighting in Infection mode, if you have experience or need to share it, please comment below.

You finished reading the article "PUBG Mobile: Some Infection mode play tips" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.