

PUBG Mobile VNG: The types of teammates will help you to top 1

These are the types of teammates that you should coordinate well if you want to win the TOP 1 in PUBG Mobile

If you join PUBG Mobile VNG with only one Solo mode, winning the TOP 1 will only depend on your survival ability and your ingenuity when running. Accompanied by a bit of luck if you do not encounter difficulties when standing in the last round.

And if you have joined PUBG Mobile VNG in Squad or Duo mode, in addition to the strategies already in place, the skills and experience in the game, you have to depend on your teammates. If you are lucky, you will meet great teammates to incorporate in the game, but if you are unlucky, you will encounter inhibitory types of teammates and increase the percentage of your defeat in the game.

To help you win more easily, Quantrimang will summarize the types of teammates that will help you win the TOP 1 in PUBG Mobile VNG. Please consult and be aware of who you should combine with.

The types of teammates will make it easier for you to TOP 1 in PUBG Mobile VNG

1. Always go with your teammates

It is possible that your partner is not a dedicated gunner, or there are specific tactics outlined for his teammates. But if you always go side by side, that partner will more or less help you, maybe they will support you with items such as ammunition, recovery items .

In addition, they can inform you about the location of the enemy around, save you if you accidentally get knocked out, support the recovery item when you are not there. That is if your teammates are near and in a convenient terrain can support well. If unfortunately, you will be too far and worse, your teammates will "butter" you and only pay attention to your backpack.

So if you encounter a teammate with such positive signs, always go with them, and if you see your teammates deliberately do not support, stay away from them.

2. Silk steering wheel

The steering wheel is also very important, with a car, your chances of losing blood will be less than that of a motorbike. Because if the motorbike is not driven carefully, there will be very dangerous acrobatics, especially on Miramar's terrain, your blood will drop if you plug your head when you're behind a "Racing Boy" .

As for cars, if your teammate is a silk driver, then the enemy may have problems confronting your car. One will be hit by a car, the other is to give you the best shot angle in the vehicle to be able to attack an enemy, otherwise it will help you escape the enemy's bullets.

3. "Crush the Team"

Perhaps the phrase "burden team" is no stranger to gamers when these are high-achieving players and make the whole team do not need to do anything but still spend TOP 1. The team bearer will be skilled people High combat ability and is considered the killer in the team.

When traveling with teammates like this, you are completely assured of their fighting ability, your job is to just go loot and wait on the last board. Of course, the game players who carry the team will not be much and making friends with them will be lucky for you if you want to spend many TOP 1 in the game.

4. Good search

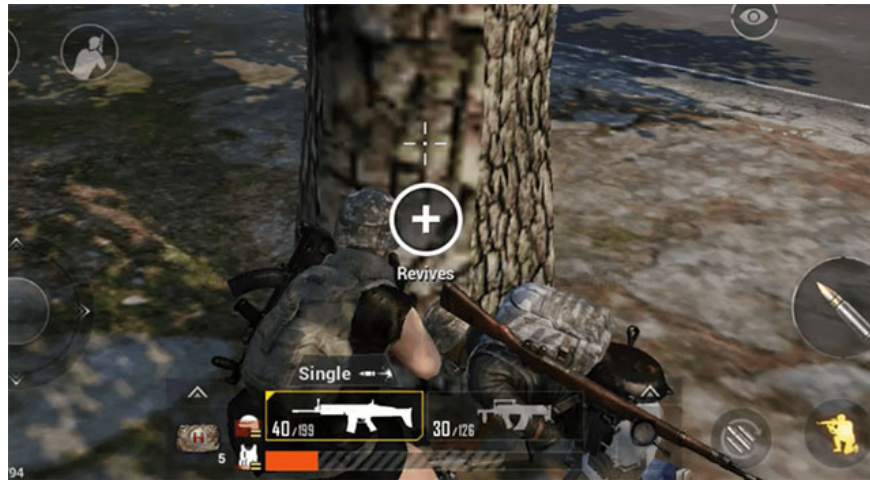

This also depends on whether the player wants to support teammates or not, of course good looking, they still have to equip themselves with everything necessary to survive in the game. But a gamer who always ticks the map or suggests supporting a team member with something is really precious in the team.

A good searcher in the game will be very supportive of the team if they find items that other members of the team are lacking. So the whole team will be well supported and if it is full when entering the final round, the chances for TOP 1 will increase.

5. Seeing death is saving immediately

Obviously this is a very respectful type of teammate in the team, being knocked out and saved by a teammate is nothing. Especially when the person who is saving you is also in a bad condition because he has just been attacked, or ignores the dangers surrounding him that comes out to save you, it is said that they value teammates more than any other something else.

So if you've been saved by these comrades, try to support them well and don't see them being knocked out without saving. Of course, it is up to you whether or not you should help save your teammates, but please show them that I have wholeheartedly supported these comrades.

If your team has one of the teammates above, the ability to win the Top 1 of the team will be much higher, coordinate well with your teammates and stand in the final round of PUBG Mobile.
