

Resize images, image resizing software

If you have a photo but you're not happy with its size and want to enlarge or reduce it, how do you do that? In this article, TipsMake will guide you on how to resize images using the best software without reducing image quality.

The best software and applications for resizing images.

1. Free Photo Converter: Advantages: Free, resizes images in many formats, and can also convert image formats.
2. Fotosizer: Advantages: Free, Batch resizing of images while maintaining image quality. Download Fotosizer to your computer.
3. PIXresizer: Resize images and professionally edit them. PIXresizer can also convert image formats: JPEG, GIF, BMP, PNG, and TIFF.
4. Fast Image Resizer: Allows you to drag and drop images into the software to resize them, supporting export to .JPEG, .BMP, and .PNG formats. Download Fast Image Resizer to your computer.
5. PhotoResizerQ: PhotoResizerQ is particularly compact and easy to use.

Use Free Photo Converter software to resize images.

Step 1: Download the latest version of Free Photo Converter

Step 2: Install the software: It's quite simple; just click Next and follow the instructions during the installation process.

When you open the software, you will see the following interface.

Step 3: Click on Add Picture, select the image file, and then click Open.

Step 4: Click on Enable Resize Setting and enter the desired image dimensions. In the Output Format section, select the desired output format and then click Output to choose where to save the image.

Resizing images is simple, isn't it? With the image resizing software above, you can get the best quality images whether you enlarge or reduce them. Additionally, you can refer to and use the photo editing software on TipsMake to create your own beautiful and meaningful images.

You finished reading the article "Resize images, image resizing software" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.