

Revealing a simple and easy way to keep your iPhone screen from turning off

Finding a way to keep the iPhone screen from turning off is an issue that many people are concerned about. Because in some cases, users need to keep the screen on to monitor certain content on the phone without having to touch the device.

Normally, people will set the iPhone screen to automatically turn off after a certain period of time, maybe 30 seconds or 1 minute. However, in some situations, we will need the screen to always be bright for convenience of use. Below are detailed instructions on how to keep the iPhone screen from turning off in a very simple way.

Step 1: First, open the Settings application on your iPhone and select Display & brightness.

Step 2: Here, click on Auto-lock. In this section, the screen brightness time is usually defaulted to 30 seconds. Therefore, to keep the screen always on, click on the Never or Not option depending on the iOS version of your device.

The above article has shared with you how to keep the iPhone screen from turning off with just a few simple steps. Wishing you success and the best experiences with your iPhone.

You finished reading the article "Revealing a simple and easy way to keep your iPhone screen from turning off" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.