

Revealing the design and features of Realme Watch, Realme's cheap smartwatch

Realme Watch, Realme's first smartwatch is expected to be launched at an event on May 25.

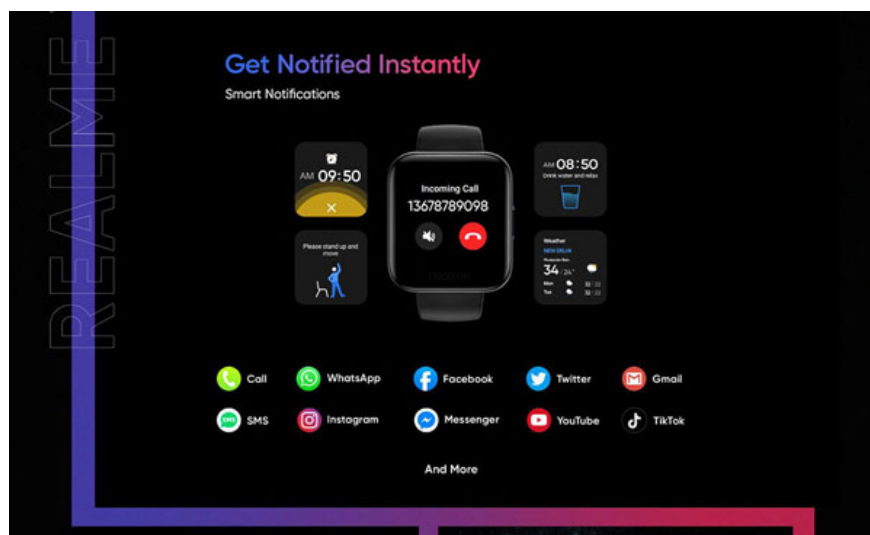

Realme Watch, Realme's first smartwatch is expected to be launched at an event on May 25. Recently, the Chinese technology company has shared details about the configuration and features of this Realme Watch.

Realme Watch will own a color touch screen sized 1.4 inches, with many different watch faces. The watch strap has many different colors for users to choose.

This watch will have features like smart notifications, 24/7 health assistants, support for 14 sports modes including walking, running, basketball, treadmill, cricket, yoga, soccer, badminton, table tennis . Realme Watch will also help measure blood oxygen levels and measure heart rate in real time.

The device also supports Bluetooth connectivity and controls all access on smartphones through an application called Realme Link. Therefore, Realme's upcoming smartwatch will receive all notifications from the phone such as calls, messages, social networking applications such as WhatsApp, Instagram, Twitter, YouTube, Gmail

Realme Watch will also feature a notification reminding user if they haven't moved in a while. The device also has the ability to pause / play music, convert songs on connected phones.

The information about the waterproof standards, battery capacity and price of Realme Watch has not been disclosed.

You finished reading the article "Revealing the design and features of Realme Watch, Realme's cheap smartwatch" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.