

Round the eyes watching the very impressive 3D paintings from the talented painter

Recently, the Vietnamese online community shared a lot of 3D paintings that turned the wall into an impressive and very real abandoned bus of Sergio Odeith, a Portuguese painter.

One of the most attractive points of 3D painting art is to help people see as immersed in the work. Recently, the Vietnamese online community shared a lot of 3D paintings that turned the wall into an impressive and very real abandoned bus of Sergio Odeith, a Portuguese painter.

On August 9, Odeith posted a massive concrete photo and asked followers what to draw on it.

Immediately, his post attracted a lot of attention on the Internet, many people made predictions about the next picture of Odeith but only one person correctly guessed that he painted an abandoned bus. . Previously his works often took the subject of monsters and horror.

The 3D picture of Odeith's abandoned abandoned bus takes nearly 10 hours and 30 spray paint cans to complete.

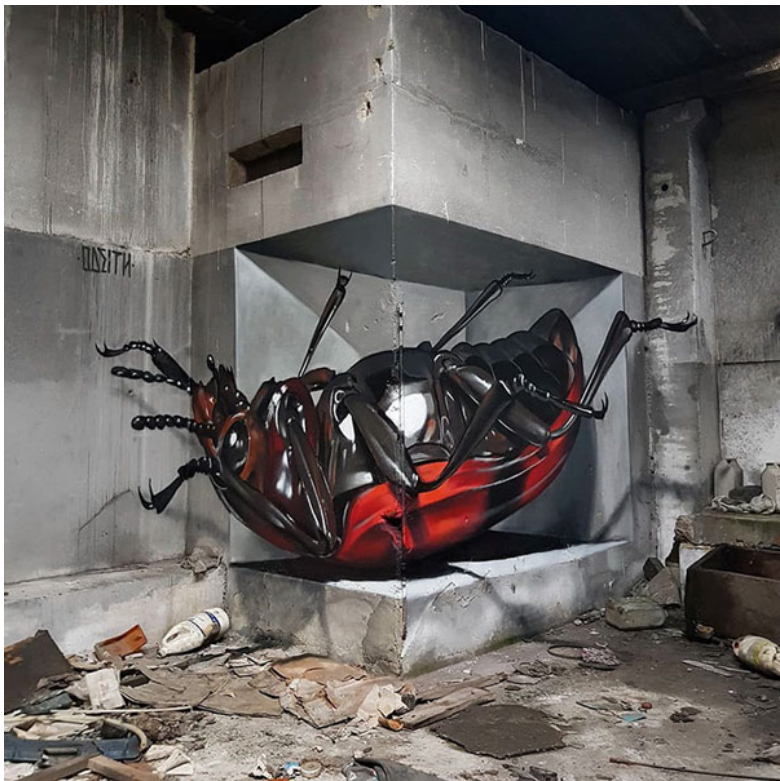

Odeith has a large number of fans on social networks including more than 365,000 Instagram followers, more than 6,700 fans on Twitter and nearly 258,000 people who regularly "drop heart" his work on Facebook. , living in Lisbon and making a living by drawing.

Here are some very beautiful and very realistic street 3D works of Odeith, please admire.

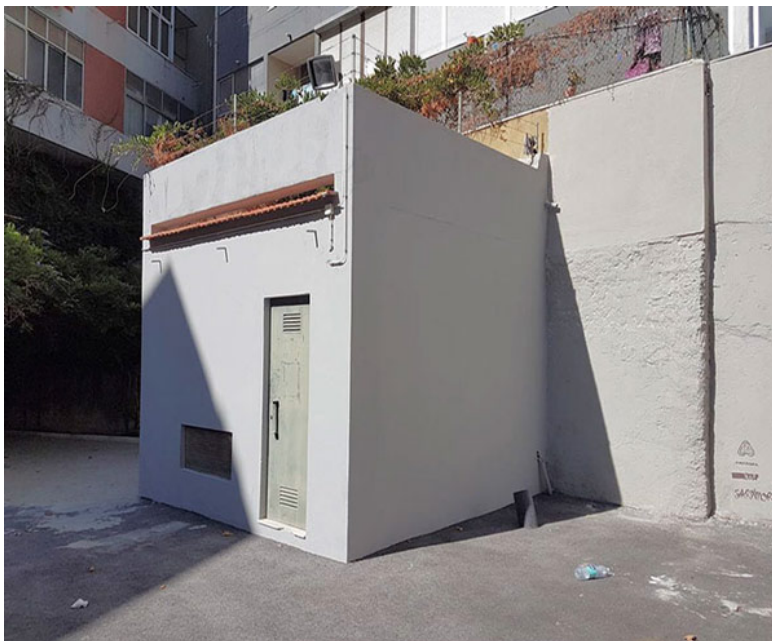

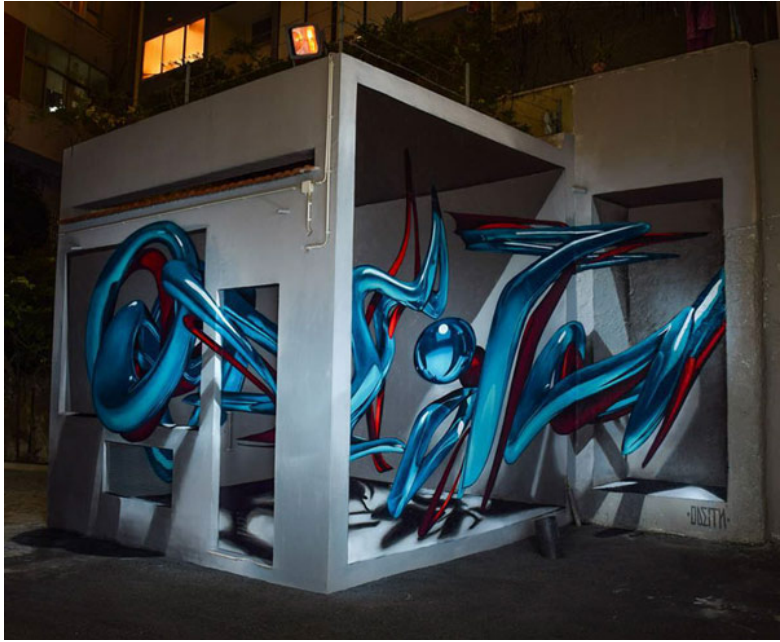

1. 15 moments of misleading humor
2. Looking at these photos, you will no longer believe your eyes!

You finished reading the article "Round the eyes watching the very impressive 3D paintings from the talented painter" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.