The BlackBerry Passport's square screen is an advantage when you browse the web or read text files. Now, with the Work Wide application, you can run 2 applications at the same time on this screen.

Currently, an application called Work Wide is available on BlackBerry World to help users make the most of the advantages that the big screen of the BlackBerry Passport brings. This application allows you to run two applications simultaneously on the BlackBerry Passport screen. For example, you can just compose an email while watching videos on YouTube, using Work Wide will split the Passport's screen into two vertical sections when active, each screen is a standalone application.

Applications available on Work Wide include a browser that supports HTML5, a computer, an image viewer and a document reader software. You can also adjust the width of the two screens or switch the applications view between the two screens.

Work Wide is a fee-based software with prices on BlackBerry's app store of $ 2.99 (about 64,000 dong).
