

Samsung launched Galaxy A10s, dual camera, 4000mAh battery for 110USD

Samsung recently launched the Galaxy A10s, the upgraded version of the Galaxy A10 has just been released less than a year.

Samsung recently launched the Galaxy A10s, the upgraded version of the Galaxy A10 has just been released less than a year. A10s are priced at $ 110, a smartphone in the low-end segment with a number of upgrades compared to its predecessor.

Galaxy A10s has a 6.2inch screen with HD resolution + 1,520 x 720 pixels and Infinity V design.

In terms of configuration, the A10s is equipped with MediaTek Helio P22 processor with 2.0GHz clock speed, 2GB RAM, 32GB internal memory and can expand the capacity up to 512GB with a memory card.

The noticeable improvement in the A10s is the dual camera system consisting of a 13MP main camera, f / 1.8 aperture lens and a depth measuring sensor with 2MP resolution. 8MP front camera and face detection mode. Fingerprint sensor is located in the middle of the back.

The most upgraded point on the A10s is the battery, when the capacity increases from 3400mAh (Galaxy A10) to 4000mAh. A10s are also integrated by Korean manufacturers to connect 4G VoLTE, Bluetooth 5.0.

Specifications of Galaxy A10s.

Galaxy A10s has 4 colors for users to choose including blue, green, red and black. Expected, A10s will be on shelves from next September.

1. Design, configuration and official selling price of Galaxy Note 10 / Note 10+
2. Design and configuration of Vsmart Bee, Vsmart's cheapest smartphone, costing VND 1.39 million
3. Design, configuration and price of Vsmart Live smartphone of Vingroup

You finished reading the article "Samsung launched Galaxy A10s, dual camera, 4000mAh battery for 110USD" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
