The brother smartphone model with Galaxy S23 Plus is about to be launched with a price of only 10 million, making people look forward to it every day.

Recently, social networks stirred up before the news that Samsung was about to introduce a new mid-range smartphone called Galaxy F54 5G. Today, 91Mobiles has shared actual images of this product showing that the launch date of the Galaxy F54 5G is very close with the price from only 35999 rupees equivalent to about 10 million.

Galaxy F54 5G can be considered as a brother smartphone model with Galaxy S23 Plus. If placed side by side, it is difficult to tell the difference between Galaxy S23 Plus and Galaxy F54 5G or Galaxy A54 5G. The arrangement of the camera cluster of the Galaxy F54 5G also includes three lenses vertically.

Even so, the Galaxy F54 may come with a 'premium camera'. According to the image shared by 91Mobiles it will look similar to many other Samsung phones. It can be seen that it has three separate camera lenses on the back, each encased in a shiny ring. The device has a flat back with curved edges. It comes in two colors: Dark Blue and Silver with a fancy gradient finish.

The Galaxy F54 5G will bring top-of-the-line cameras with super-stabilized OIS, nightography and Astrolapse features, the outlet says. In terms of cameras, the Samsung Galaxy F54 5G could have a triple-unit setup with a 108MP OIS main camera, an 8MP ultra-wide-angle lens, and a 2MP sensor. The front is noticeable with a 32MP lens for selfies and video calls.

The brother to the Galaxy S23 Plus is rumored to have a 6.7-inch FHD+ AMOLED display with 120Hz refresh rate just like the Galaxy S23 Plus. It is expected to be powered by the Exynos 1380 chip paired with 8GB of RAM, 128GB and 256GB of onboard storage that is almost identical to the Galaxy A54 5G.

Notably, the Galaxy F54 5G is said to have a particularly large 6000mAh battery with 25W fast charging support. It will likely run One UI 5 based on Android 13.
