

Samsung plans to launch two more screen-folding phones in the near future

According to a report derived from Bloomberg, Samsung is currently planning to produce and launch two more new folding screen phones in the near future.

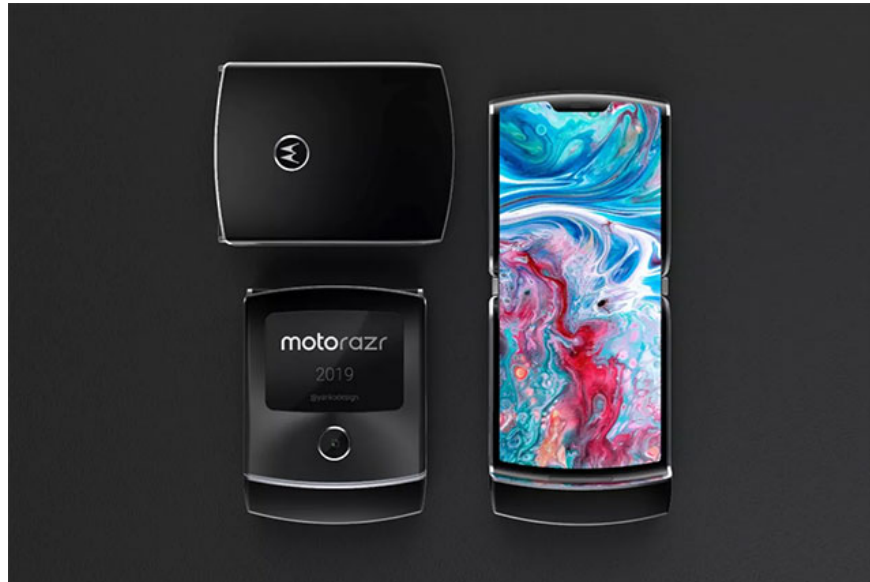

According to a report derived from Bloomberg, Samsung is planning to produce and launch two new folding screen phones in the near future, with significant changes in design as well as foreign. Figure compared to the new Galaxy Fold was officially introduced at the MWC Global Mobile Exhibition 2019.

1. Samsung's premium products at MWC 2019

If you do not know, the current Galaxy Fold owns a 4.6-inch external screen, the internal screen after fully opening will reach 7 inches, on par with a tablet. The device's open hinge mechanism is modeled after a normal book. However, for the next 2 devices to be released, Samsung will be equipped with a larger screen, covering the entire exterior of the device like the Huawei Mate X. The other one is supposed to be available. Longitudinal design - folding form opens in a clamshell structure with a small external screen and a large screen inside when opened.

Clamshell phone, a seemingly 'cute' term, reminds us of the potential design of the folding screen Motorola RAZR, which is also expected to officially launch soon. It is likely to be at the end of 2019 or early 2020 (according to Bloomberg sources).

1. Oppo 'chases' new folding screen smartphone, designed quite similar to Huawei Mate X

Meanwhile, Samsung's current folding screen phone, Galaxy Fold, is expected to be delivered to users in April, but Samsung is clearly still having some problems with the durability of the product, the device. It is possible that visible wrinkles appear in the center of the screen after the device is fully opened. Some rumors even reveal that the giant of Kim Chi is currently considering offering free screen replacement services to users in case of unexpected screen problems. Galaxy's Fold.

You finished reading the article "Samsung plans to launch two more screen-folding phones in the near future" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.