Samsung has just released a short video clip on YouTube 'reminded' that the introduction of its new generation of Galaxy Tab S tablets will be announced in an event on this June 12th.

Galaxy Tab S is said to use fingerprint security and ultra-battery-saving mode exclusively on Galaxy S5

According to PhoneArena , in the video clip just released, Samsung said its event will take place on June 12 in New York (USA). In addition, many images in the video clip suggest that this new tablet model will have many different color versions.

Regarding the Galaxy Tab S model, according to SamMobile , it will have two versions of 8.4-inch and 10.5-inch screens. In particular, the device is also equipped with unique technologies available on Galaxy S5 phones.

Accordingly, the Galaxy Tab S will use fingerprint security sensor, Ultra Power Saving feature (helps the device operate 24 hours with only 10% battery) and pre-installed wallpapers available on Galaxy S5.

SamMobile also said that the screen of the device will support a sharp resolution of 2,560 x 1,600 pixels, an 8-core Exynos 5 processor, 3G RAM and supports internal memory up to 32 GB.
