

See the world's longest overhead bike route in China

Join us in watching the world's longest bicycle road in China in the article below!

1. Discover breakfast of 23 countries around the world
2. 13 odd things can only happen in China
3. China claims to be the first country to bring the probe to the Moon's shadow in 2018

If residents live in Xiamen city, China wants to avoid traffic jams, daily traffic jams, they can now travel by bike on the bike-elevated route.

Completed in February 2017, Xiamen Bicycle Skyway - Xiamen bicycle highway has 5 main lanes for residents and 3 commercial centers in the city.

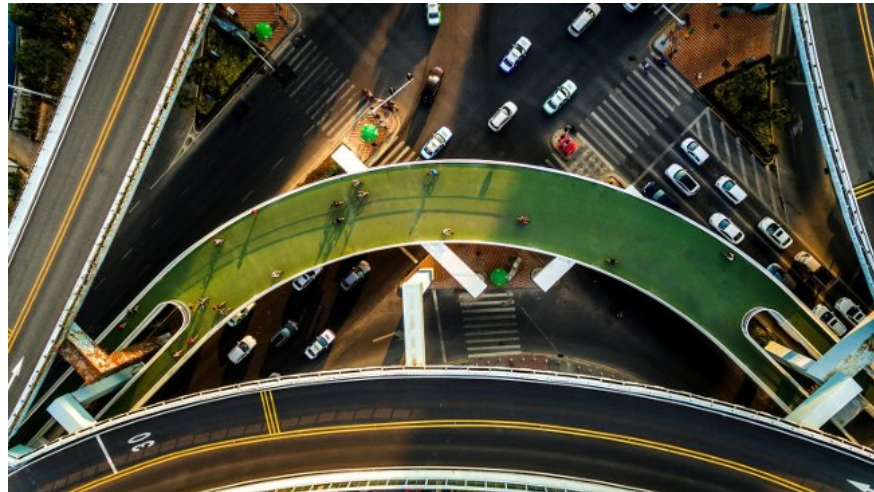

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture

This project is by Dissing + Weitling Architecture, Danish Design Corporation. And this is also the longest bike road in the world today. Join us in watching the world's longest bicycle road in China in the article below!

Located in Fujian Province, China, this elevated bicycle route named Xiamen stretches nearly 8km and can handle up to 2,023 bicycles operating at the same time.

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture
This elevated road is located at a height of 5m above the ground .

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture
. and located just under the newly upgraded bus line, also known as BRT road, in the central area of ??Xiamen.
Xiamen Road has transit points so cyclists can use public transport to certain locations.

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture

These unique lanes appear throughout the city, designed in large spiral form to gradually increase the slope.

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture

Most of the infrastructure of many big cities still prioritizes the use of cars. However, there are many cities currently building dedicated bicycle routes and improving public transport.

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture

For example, the city of Copenhagen ( Denmark ) is constructing 26 highways for 186-mile bicycles ( about 300km ).

' Good infrastructure will help increase accessibility, mobility and connectivity; while still creating the city's vibrant character and atmosphere " - Steen Saverly Trojaborg , Dissing + Weitling Architecture CEO shared on Business Insider.

Photo source: DISSING + WEITLING architecture

You can refer to the video below:

See also: The precious Chinese father learned after his 2-year-old daughter's trip

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "See the world's longest overhead bike route in China" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.