

Set up, control new Android TV Box faster thanks to Android TV Remote Control

Not only for quick data entry, Android TV Remote Control also really becomes a remote control, allowing switching between D-pad, Touch-pad and Gamepad to adjust content, play games on Android TV Box.

If you have ever used a Box equipped with Android TV like SHIELD, Nexus Player or Mi Box, you may have to go through the "painful process" when logging in to all applications using the included controls. Depending on the application, you will have to enter your email, username or password, word by word, word by word, using D-pad, both slow and lost. Many people also complain that this is the most unpleasant experience in their lives.

Thankfully, Google has a free app that lets you go through these initial setups quickly, easily, and much more efficiently. By using Android TV Remote Control application, you can turn your phone into an input tool to fill in your login information, password, . on Android TV Box without using the included remote control. with Box. Let's see TipsMake.com how to do it.

Please refer to more:

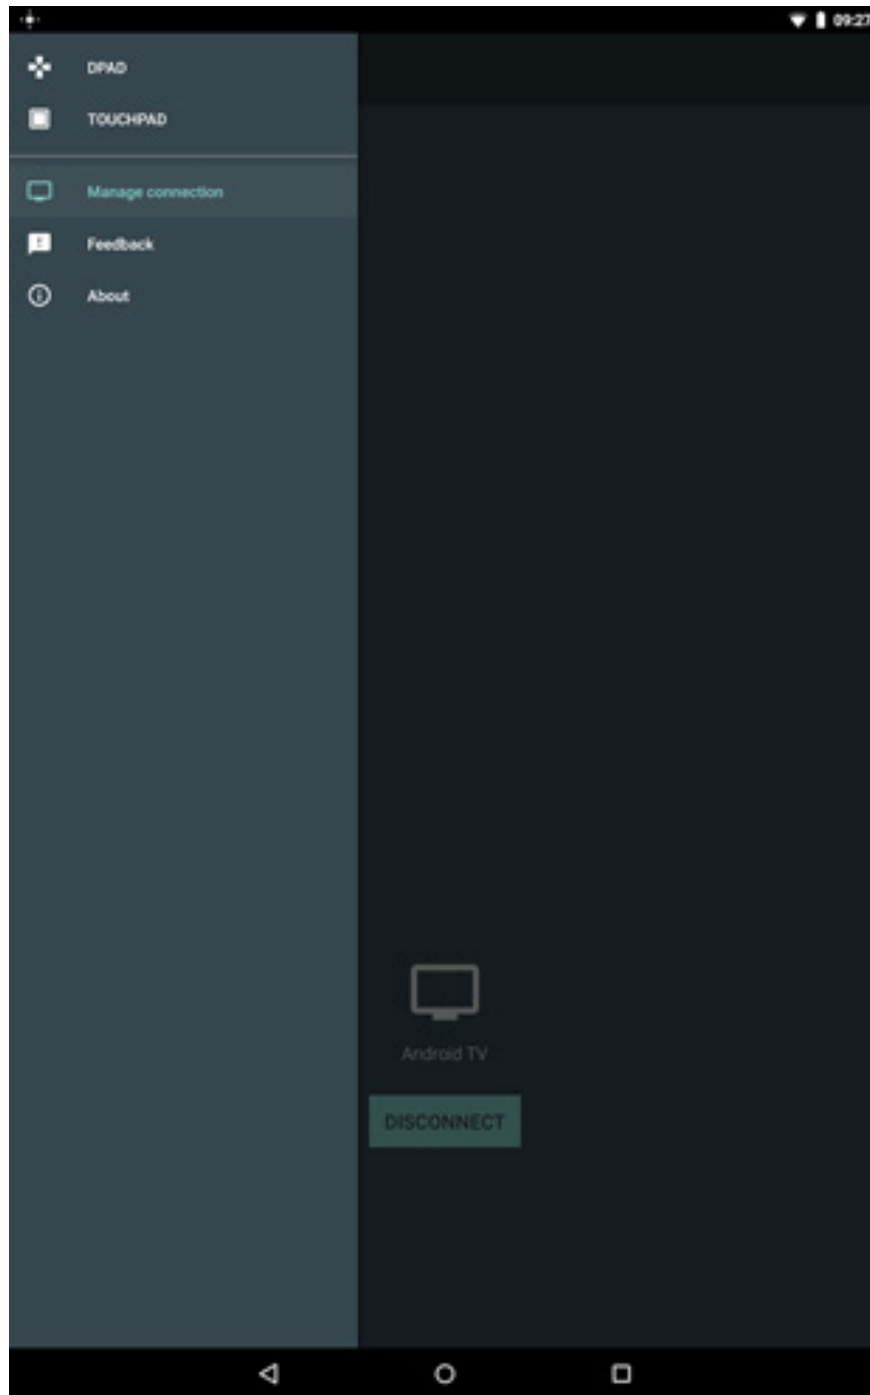

1. How to connect a laptop to a TV using an HDMI port
2. How to connect mouse, keyboard with Smart TV

To get started, download Android TV Remote Control and install it on your phone.

Download Android TV Remote Control

You should install the application before turning on the new Box. Then, when Android TV Box is turned on and the home screen has finished downloading, open Remote Control and follow the steps to connect. Do this by allowing the app to search for nearby available devices, clicking on the Box to connect and then entering the code to confirm the connection. That's all!

Interface of Android TV Remote Control application

Once connected, open the application to log in, place the cursor in the text box to enter the login information, password and then you will see Box on Android TV Remote Control application. If not, you will have to click the keyboard button in the upper right corner of the application to open the Manual Box. From there, enter your login information, password right on your phone, in seconds and you can enjoy your favorite apps.

Not only for quick data entry, Android TV Remote Control also really becomes a remote control, allowing switching between D-pad, Touch-pad and Gamepad to adjust content, play games on Android TV Box.

Many applications now use login on the web to make the process simpler, but there are applications that require you to type in full login information and password. If the password you set is strong enough, which means that there are both letters, numbers, uppercase, lowercase letters, special characters, symbols, then typing them with D-pad is an extreme situation. If you are "struggling" with logging in to the app when setting up Android TV Box for the first time, Android TV Remote Control can be a perfect end to you.

You finished reading the article "Set up, control new Android TV Box faster thanks to Android TV Remote Control" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.