

Shivered the giant python 'vomited' the dog

After watching the video, it was recorded that a giant python was vomiting its food, an adult dog in Burana district in Bangkok city (Thailand). .

After watching the video, it was recorded that a giant python was vomiting its food, an adult dog in Burana district in Bangkok city (Thailand). .

After swallowing the prey, this 3.7-meter python had to vomit the ill-fated dog out of panic at the noise of the car and the cameramen.

The python writhes as if it has a large swelling in the stomach. After struggling to "release" the prey, it quickly "escaped".

According to zoologists, it is quite common for a python to vomit a food that it cannot digest, which is quite common in the natural world.

1. Scary nape with the largest mouse hunting screen in the world of the "beast" giant Anaconda

You finished reading the article "Shivered the giant python 'vomited' the dog" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.