

Signs you should break up with the man you are getting to know

There is a way to know if there is something about the person you are courting that makes you nervous. Here is a list of subtle signs you can use to tell what a man is really like.

It's hard to know what someone is really like without spending a long time getting to know them. As a woman, you might want to know what you're getting into when you decide to date someone. The reason is because you don't want to find out that they're not the person you expected after a year.

There is a way to know if there is something about the person you are courting that makes you nervous . And you can definitely recognize certain traits or behaviors early on. Here is a list of subtle signs you can use to tell what a man is really like .

Disrespectful to others

Respect is something we all learn from a young age. So if a man is disrespectful to you or others, that's a big red flag. For example, he chased away a waiter at a restaurant. Or he was rude to another driver. Maybe he even ignores you or a friend when you're talking.

These are all signs of a disrespectful person and they are one of the first things you should look for if you are trying to figure out what kind of person he really is.

No empathy

Before we get into this, you need to understand what empathy is. Empathy is the ability to understand the feelings of others and sometimes share those feelings. When a man tends to disregard the feelings and experiences of others, it means he lacks empathy. This can be a problem.

A man who lacks empathy for others can come off as dismissive and cruel. And the first sign of this often comes in the form of a lack of concern for others. If your man lacks empathy, that's a big warning sign.

Dishonest

You may be wondering how to tell if a man is being honest with you. Pay attention, it's easy to see. If you notice that he does something specific every time you think he's lying, then you're probably right.

And then there are the 'deadly' signs like hiding things on their phone or getting upset when you ask about certain things. A dishonest partner is definitely something to avoid if you don't want to get your heart broken.

Not listening to others

There is a stereotype that men don't listen to anything women say. But that's not the case. If a man cares about you and wants to be with you, he will take in everything you say.

So when your partner is a bad listener, you know that he or she is someone you should not continue to learn about.

Be negative

This is one of the biggest warning signs. If a man is constantly negative without an underlying cause like a traumatic experience, you may want to stop. We all have good days and bad days. We all have pasts we want to get over. But this is not the type of negativity in a relationship. If your partner thinks everything you do or say is wrong, don't hesitate to say goodbye.

The King of Procrastination

The world is full of people, from lazy, to hard-working, to career procrastinators. If someone likes to spend their whole life behind the TV or computer, you're going to have a hard time dealing with them. There's nothing wrong with taking time to unwind after a long day, but if it lasts all day, it's a big problem.

People who do this tend to push everything else out of their lives. They will skip work and, if they are freelancers, they will turn down clients. It can be difficult to plan for the future with them.

These are the signs to identify the personality of the partner you are looking for. Hopefully, this article will help you find your ideal partner and avoid falling into useless, time-wasting relationships.

You finished reading the article "Signs you should break up with the man you are getting to know" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.