

Some tips to help wall stickers do not peel off

To help prevent wall stickers from sticking and sticking properly when you hang them, some useful tips below will help you stick with solid wall stickers.

Today, instead of putting nails on a wall to hang things, people often use hooks that hang on the wall to hang them. Wall stickers are often very useful, they can help you hang some items that are not too heavy anywhere you want, without having to nail or drill aesthetically, simply with Attach them to the wall. However, wall stickers are easy to use, but after a while these wall stickers are often flaky and then we can't continue to use them. So how to make these hooks become solid without throwing them away? Today please tell me some super simple tips that are extremely effective to help the wall stickers be firm and not afraid to peel off when hanging up.

1. Use hot water

First, use water to clean the walls and glass surfaces, where you want to place the wall stickers then let them dry naturally to help the dirt that no longer adheres to the wall causing the air to fly into the suction base so that the wall stickers fast bong. Next, attach the wall to the hot water (70 to 80 degrees C) for 10 to 15 seconds to soften the plastic layer. Then peel off the protective paper and stick it on the wall, squeezing the four corners around.

So wall stickers will be firmly fixed, the stickers will be used longer.

2. Soapy water

You can apply soapy water directly to the wall, so that the soapy water is completely dry, then you can attach the hook up and hang it normally. Soapy water will help make the paste more effective.

3. Chicken egg whites or nail polish

You can use nail polish or chicken egg whites, then take the swab evenly onto the bottom of the soles and stick to the normal wall. Leave the patch dry for 12 hours, then hang it. With the help of chicken egg whites or nail polish, the suction soles will be extremely solid, no longer having to worry about hangers that often fall.

These are two substances that have very good adhesive ability. So you can use them to make the wall stickers more solid. However, if you use this method, when removing the wall stickers, it can cause peeling of the wall paint. So consider it before using this method.

4. Toothpaste, why not?

If you are afraid to use chicken eggs or nail polish to peel off your walls when removing the patch, you can use toothpaste instead. As with the above methods, use a little toothpaste, apply it to the suction base and paste it on the wall, leave the patch completely dry, hang it. Although toothpaste is not highly effective at binding like egg white, it is much better than soapy water.

If you want to stick firmly, you can also use chicken egg whites and toothpaste for the best effect.

5. Skin care oil

In addition to the above materials, you can also use a little skin oil to help make the extra wall a good way. You only need to use a little lotion, then apply it to the inside of the suction, stick it on the wall and let it dry for 1 day, then hang it.

Note:

1. Before attaching hooks, you need to clean the wall.
2. Do not hang up immediately after attaching the wall-mounted hook, if after 12 hours, you still have not seen the hook attached to the wall, then wait a few more hours before hanging up.
3. Items with a weight greater than the maximum weight recommended by the manufacturer should not be hung.

You finished reading the article "Some tips to help wall stickers do not peel off" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

