

Sony renewed the Vaio NW series

Two versions of Vaio NW70 and 50 will use the Core 2 Duo P8700 processor at 2.53 MHz. Accordingly, the two versions of Vaio NW70 and 50 will use the Core 2 Duo P8700 processor

Two versions of Vaio NW70 and 50 will use the Core 2 Duo P8700 processor at 2.53 MHz.

Accordingly, the two versions of Vaio NW70 and 50 will use the Core 2 Duo P8700 processor clocked at 2.53 MHz, running Vista Home Premium 64bit operating system, 15.5-inch wide LCD screen, resolution resolution up to 1,366 x 768 pixels.

The new device also has 4 GB of RAM, which allows for a maximum of up to 8 GB, a 500 GB hard drive and an Office Personal 2007 software included. While NW70 version is equipped with a Blu-ray recorder, NW50 only has a Super Multi DVD player.

Below is a picture of two new models.

You finished reading the article "Sony renewed the Vaio NW series" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
