

In addition to the search features on the local computer, it can also act as an HTTP, FTP or ETP server, allowing connection to Everything running on other computers using Everything (for ETP / FTP servers).) or web browser. Once connected, you can search or download files via Everything remote. This feature seems convenient, but it is also a security risk, so if you are not sure what you are doing, the computer does not turn on the firewall, you should not enable this feature. Create a strong password for Everything when using it as an ETP server, FTP.

Everything is quite light, only about 15MB. Available, portable version for both 32bit and 64bit Win. It will launch with Windows by default and is located in the system tray.

If you want to experience the feeling of finding data files on your computer quickly and for free, try Everything.

P / S: I have scanned the online 64bit installation and portable 64bit version on VirusTotal, please clean ^^!
