As we know, currently, the blogging movement is very popular and developing in our country. To create a complete blog, you need to set up an account at Yahoo Mail or Yahoo Messenger (if available, use your current account). Steps to do 'blogging' are as follows:

First, click on the rightmost icon above the Yahoo Messenger interface or go to <http://360.yahoo.com> and use your username and password to sign in. Once you sign in successfully, the interface of the blog will appear and ask you to set up part by part. The first step will be My Page, which can be understood 'this is your home page', click on that box and follow the operator's instructions (there are three steps in this section).

In the Create a Nickname box, enter the name you want. Anyone who 'visits' your blog will see that name. Choose a Background box: this is the font making field, the theme for the blog. An 'online diary' owner can choose available fonts or create his own theme. When you're done, click on Continue. And Your Interests and Favorites: here, there are My interests: the issues you care about, your interests, Music I like: the type of music, the singer you like. Fill it out and also finish by clicking on Continue.

Pay attention to the Preview as seen by box on the right corner of the screen, this is the setting for those who can see what you just recorded above. If you want only one person to see this page, select Just me, and if you choose Public, everyone on the internet can view this page. Choose Friends of Friends as your new friends. After selecting, click on the Go box to complete the homepage.

Next is the My Blog section, click on this box. Here, the manufacturer will ask you to put your blog title in the Title box. The user enters a custom name there and switches to Description. The Description box asks you to briefly describe the goal, the matter of interest will be presented on the blog. Then the person who can post comments to your blog is where the user installs, and who will be allowed to write a comment or post a comment on his blog (can choose public, friends of friends, just me or friends)

Next we will go into the process of creating more details for your blog. Blast, located at the top, near your name, is a self-introduction, a small piece of news, a link to a picture you love, an interesting comparison, or just a thought you want to share. Photo is the place where you take pictures of yourself or represent your hobbies. The blog is where you record your daily diary, the issues you care about or want to share. Feed is where you can update the latest information of a website you are interested in, can still read them while surfing your blog. Currently, some news websites such as BBC, CNN, QuanTriMang. have this function for Feeds.

Finally, the blogging process. To write an Entry at 'blog', you need to click Compose Blog Entry. Here, the Entry Title box is the title of the article, photo - the image you want to insert into the article by clicking Browse to find the image and Entry Content, the main content of the article. You can write, compose what you want there and end by click to Post This Entry. In addition, there is also a section of Tags with the task of classifying articles such as articles of English (Tense), passive (passive voice). separated by commas.

So now we have basically completed a complete blog.
