

Stylish with Toshiba Satellite T230

The Satellite T230 model with a new, more modern and youthful design will be available in Vietnam in October with an estimated price of about VND 16 million.

The Satellite T230 model with a new, more modern and more youthful design will be available in Vietnam in October with an estimated price of about VND 16 million .

Toshiba Vietnam has not yet announced the official price and configuration will be sold in the domestic market. However, according to its representative, Satellite T230 version sold in Vietnam will use Intel Core i ULV processor with energy saving and expected price of about VND 16 million.

The T230 has a 13.3-inch screen and the glossy plastic finish is quite eye-catching. This model is fully equipped with connectivity ports such as HDMI, eSATA, USB, VGA and no optical drive attached.

The speakers are located on the underside near the front edge, the keyboard is the most significant change on the Satellite T230 compared to the traditional design of previous models.

The Satellite T230 uses Core i ULV low-voltage processor, but the initial tests on the test model show that the machine runs quite well and stable.

You finished reading the article "Stylish with Toshiba Satellite T230" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

