Survival Heroes: Top 5 useful tips you may not know

Map Scan feature

Scout is indispensable and very useful for gamers in Survival Heroes. However, there are still many people who do not know the importance of Scout, especially new players. Thanks to this feature, you will detect the location of the nearest opponents on the map.

More specifically when Scout also scans information about enemy equipment parameters, it is clear that Scout is an extremely useful addition to controlling the player's vision.

Only if the enemy is in a sitting and hiding state, the Scout doesn't seem to work. In addition, if the opponent is also using invisibility accessories, Scout is like "blind eyes". And for those who are outside the map, Scout is also useless.

Pay attention to the value of items in the chest

This is a true combination of MOBA and survival game, the quality of each item in the chest will greatly affect the loot of the game. In the deserted houses there will be chests that support a lot of items for players. Usually the items available will be rudimentary items.

The chests will be scattered across every corner of the map, with all six main chests in the game, including Woody Chest, the Silver Chest, Mystery Chest, Royal Chest, Renown Magic Chest and Supply Chest. Each type of chest will be divided by level and randomly appear somewhere on the map, there are some types of chests that will need a key to open like the Royal Chest.

The key to opening the Royal Chest you can find in buildings, the Supply Chest or "Hearing Box" will only appear twice after each round of narrowing.

Sitting to avoid

It seems that sitting is just a character movement, but in Survival Heroes it also helps the player to hide from the enemy, especially when the enemy is using the Scout to observe the map. Because the player can see quite a lot of things when controlling the character with a top-down view.

In addition, moving in the sitting posture is slow but will help you not to reveal your footsteps, while the blood bar is also hidden. If you move skillfully, you can completely fool your opponent.

Goblin Mortar can be upgraded over time

Goblin Mortar, also known as the Cannon, is an extremely useful support device with the ability to attack opponents whenever someone is within the reach of this Cannon. The power of each cannon can be upgraded and this upgrade is quite simple.

After each upgrade, each cannon will be strengthened, increase its range and stun the target. The disadvantage of this cannon is that it only appears in the Hearing Box and each character can carry only one Cannon, and if it stands outside the ring, it will be completely useless. So if you use Goblin Mortar, you need to calculate very carefully, especially during the last time.

Invisibility will be ineffective when plugging your eyes

This equipment is popular with many players and is used in Survival Heroes, which is a stealth potion. When activated, the user will be in stealth mode and no one will be able to see you. Even if that person uses Scout skills to scan positions

But the Eye is what makes the invisible water pot ineffective when you just need to cast your eyes down to detect those who are invisible in your surroundings. Often when being pursued, the new opponent uses invisibility, so plug the Eye down to make the enemy appear, up to a player can plug 10 eyes. So please use the situation and use it properly.

There are a few tips that can change your game in Survival Heroes that many people have to spend time to know and do. Take advantage of the above Survival Heroes tips and make sure they get you to the TOP 1 easily.
