League of Legends: Battle Speed ??and the information you need to know

Game interface and shared platform

League of Legends will be in the MOBA game genre like the PC version of League of Legends. Created by Riot Games and will be released on mobile platforms like iOS, Android and even the Console.

Players will experience the familiar 5vs5 gameplay with new features specific to the mobile platform. Especially the map Summoner's Rift familiar to PC League of Legends players.

But Riot Games will add some minor tweaks to make the game speed faster. The control screen will have 2 switches with high sensitivity, ensuring the skills of the character are released exactly like on a computer.

According to the announcement of Riot Games, LoL will be released from 2020 on mobile platforms such as iOS, Android and consoles.

Chess League of Legends Mobile

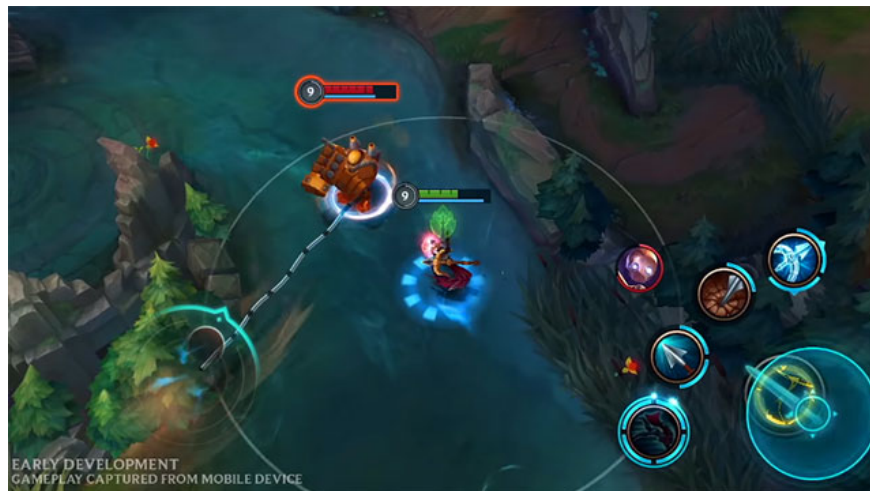

When League of Legends: Chien Chien launch, gamers will have 40 familiar names such as Garen, Jinx, Shyvana . And then will be added gradually in the updates. You will be able to download LOL Mobile completely free of charge and more specifically, players can collect the generals in the game for free without spending any money. Obviously this is not a "pay to win" game.

Why Mobile and Console?

If you look at LOL Mobile, gamers will think that this is simply a PC version of League of Legends adapted into the Mobile version. This is actually a game that Riot Games had to spend a lot of time to rebuild the entire game.

This will ensure gamers have a completely new and exciting experience, and worthy of what the player has to wait.

This is also a MOBA game that requires players to practice the skills necessary to outperform other gamers and win for their team and teammates. Of course, it is also impossible to lack situations that handle 200 IQ and the roaming phase is so familiar to PC League players.

The reason League of Legends Mobile was developed based on the aspirations of gamers is the main. Specifically, many gamers believe that playing League of PC is not suitable for the constantly changing lifestyle of many people at the moment. So this is the reason why LoL LoL was born to serve gamers with such a lifestyle.

Official LoL launch time

Expected time to launch LoL LoL will be in the first quarter of 2020, specifically in February 2020. The launch information will include support platform, new features in the game.

Above is the information about the League of Legends game title: Toc Chien, through the pictures and video gameplay introduced by Riot Games to gamers, surely TOC Lo Chien will be a very "title" game for LoL players in particular and gamers who love the MOBA genre in general.
