

Surprise with Guinness records in the cat and dog world

The Guinness Book of World Records has enrolled dogs and cats with physical characteristics or special abilities due to hard work.

The Guinness Book of World Records once enrolled dogs and cats with physical traits or special abilities due to hard training like dogs with the longest tongue, the longest cat, the tallest dog, 13 collective jumpers.

1. Decoding the world's most crowded man, 1,171 children in 32 years
2. Where is the shortest river in the world, how many meters long?
3. 10 exotic tree species hold the world record

According to the Guinness Book of Records, the title of the dog with the longest tongue in the world belongs to Mochi, 18.54cm. A dog of St. Bernard, living with its owner in South Dakota, USA. With an oversized long tongue, Mochi often drooled, breathing hard and had some difficulties picking up objects on the floor by mouth. (Photo: MNN.)

The record of the world's longest cat now belongs to Ludo, a cat living in Wakefield, England, with a length of 1.18 m. But it is likely that this record will be broken by Omar, the American long-haired cat living in Melbourne, Australia with a length of about 1.2 m and weighing 13.6 kg. (Photo: MNN.)

In 2012, the Guinness Book of Records recognized Zeus, a breed of Great Dane, the tallest dog in the world with a height of 1.1 m and weighs nearly 75 kg. When standing with hind legs, Zeus has a height of 2.2m. Unfortunately, Zeus died in 2014. (Photo: AP.)

The title of the world's smallest dog belongs to Milly, belonging to the Chihuahua breed, with a height of 9.6cm despite being nearly 2 years old. Milly belongs to the Chihuahua breed. (Photo: Laura Moss.)

In October 2006, Cinderella May competed in the contest for Purina Incredible Dog Challenge National Finals, surpassing 1,727m and became the world's tallest jumping dog. Cinderella May belongs to Greyhound hunting dog breed. (Photo: MNN.)

With a lifespan of 29 years and 5 months, Bluey is the longest living dog in the world. Les Hall of Victoria, an Australian rancher, started raising Bluey from 1910 until it died on November 14, 1939. Photos: Wikimedia.

The Merlin black cat can emit a grunt in the throat with a negative intensity of 67.8 decibels (dB), as big as a dishwasher or air conditioner. Guinness world record books have recognized this special ability of Merlin. (Photo: YouTube.)

The title of the world's fastest skateboarding dog belongs to Jumpy, a British Bulldog breed. In 2013, it took only 19.65 seconds to conquer the 100m distance in a parking lot. (Photo: Neotuxedo LEE.)

13 dogs of different height and weight were trained by Uchida Geinousha, a staff member at Super Wan Wan Circus in Japan, at the same time to set a Guinness World Record. (Photo: Wikimedia.)

Rose, a Labrador-type hound with a talent for catching a superior flying disc. Rose can catch and hold up to 7 separate flying saucers without missing one. (Photo: MNN.)

You finished reading the article "Surprise with Guinness records in the cat and dog world" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.