

Tarot vs. Astrology: Which is More Accurate?

Astrology and tarot are both predictive methods that help people understand the future. However, which is more accurate, astrology or tarot? Let's find out together!

Astrology and tarot are both predictive methods that help people understand the future. However, which is more accurate, astrology or tarot ? Let's find out together!

Tarot cards and astrology are popular tools that many people use to gain insight and advice for difficult decisions. Tarot readings are often used for divination, which is the practice of predicting events or telling the future by drawing cards or rolling dice.

On the other hand, we generally do not consider astrology like Horoscopes as fortune telling because it does not involve any divine intervention. Instead, it attempts to interpret the destiny chart obtained from your date and time of birth.

So, which one should you use to answer your questions? In this article, let's compare the differences between astrology and fortune telling to find out!

What is Tarot card reading?

Tarot has been one of the most popular divination and transformational tools for understanding ourselves and the world around us for centuries. The cards are a reflection of our souls, showing us what is going on both internally and externally. They represent the sacred connection we have with the forces of the universe.

For centuries, people have relied on Tarot readings to help them navigate the ups and downs of life. Each card can be interpreted in a variety of ways, depending on the intention and question asked. The images printed on Tarot cards hold the secrets to answering all of our doubts. However, they change every time we shuffle the deck. This deck taps into our subconscious, revealing truths that we may not be aware of but are always lurking nearby.

When someone wants to have their fortune told, they shuffle the cards and ask a question. The reader then arranges the cards in a specific pattern and interprets them.

What is astrology?

Astrology, on the other hand, such as Ba Zi or Zi Wei, is an ancient Chinese system for predicting a person's future based on the date and time of their birth. Using this information, you can create a destiny chart, which provides a comprehensive view of life. It interprets the innate qualities or "stars" a person is born under and uses them to predict what will happen throughout their life.

The difference between astrology and tarot card reading

Many people need to clarify the differences or similarities between Tarot and astrology. These two types of divination focus on the future but differ in how they are performed.

1. Tools and information needed

Tarot readings do not require specific details like time, place, and date of birth to tell you a story. Astrology, on the other hand, requires all of these details to give an accurate reading.

Tarot card reading is an art that requires a deck of cards to work. Tarot are cards with symbols and images that are used to predict the future. The practitioner is usually a person trained in Tarot reading who can interpret the meanings of the cards.

On the other hand, for astrology, you need a birth chart, a decade chart and a yearly chart to answer your questions.

2. Short term or long term?

Tarot reading is a short-term thinking process done for divination in the near future, while astrology is a long-term approach. In a tarot reading, the reader draws cards from the deck and interprets their meanings in relation to the question asked.

On the other hand, astrologers believe that a person's characteristics are determined by the date/time of birth and the place where he or she was born. Besides knowing your characteristics, you can also use the destiny chart to interpret every aspect of your life, such as wealth, love relationships, health, family, and others. So, this method is suitable for those who want to know more about their strengths & weaknesses to improve them.

3. Frequency

Tarot readings are a fun and engaging way to gain insight into your future. However, tarot readings can become 'addictive' if you rely on them too often. Therefore, it is best to have a tarot reading when you feel like you need guidance, such as when making an important life decision or experiencing a loss.

But in astrology, there is no time limit to refer back to the horoscope when decisions need to be made in life. Some people use this method to check their daily fortune.

4. Reading location

Tarot or astrology readings can be a very private experience. They cannot be done in public places where there is too much background noise. The environment must be free of noise, clutter, and other distractions. A quiet place is also necessary so that the professional counselor can focus on the person seeking help.

It's hard to say which method is more accurate because both have their pros and cons. For example, tarot cards can be easier to use because you don't need any special knowledge or training. However, knowing what you're reading can be a challenge if you're not familiar with the meanings of tarot cards.

On the other hand, reading astrology requires more effort because it involves studying an entire specialized field. However, it will be easier to interpret what you see when you look at an astrological chart once you have mastered the subject.

In short, whether you choose astrology or tarot depends on your intentions and what you want to achieve. They are tools that do two different jobs. Tarot is a better way to ask a question once, faster and easier, but an astrology reading will get the job done if you want a more complete picture of your entire life.

Remember that astrology or tarot card reading is more than just reading your fortune. It can help you make decisions, set goals, and plan for the future.

You finished reading the article "Tarot vs. Astrology: Which is More Accurate?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.