

Teach parents how to have a simple haircut for boys at home

Join Quantrimang to learn how to cut boys hair at home with simple tools like trimmer, scissors, ...

With just a pair of scissors or a hair trimmer, you can easily create stylish hairstyles for your "boys" without having to go to a store or shop outside. Please refer to the tutorial on how to cut a simple haircut for boys at home to find out more details!

First, do not forget to put an extra towel around your baby's neck and shoulders to limit the small hair after the cut can make children itchy, uncomfortable.

You can use one of these two tools to trim your baby's hair: a trimmer (also known as a trimmer) or a barber scissors . In today's article, Quantrimang would like to introduce you how to cut hair with both of these tools.

1. Instruct parents to cut hair for boys right at home

Use a hair trimmer

Fathers and mothers can fully use the trimmer to cut their boys' hair. The advantage of this device is that it is easy to manipulate, does not cause skin to scratch for children during hair cutting. You can even adjust the length of the trimming comb (in sizes from 1 to 12mm) to create different hairstyles for your baby. Simple, convenient, safe what you may notice when using the trimmer to trim, trim hair for baby.

If you are still wondering whether or not to use a trimmer for your baby boy's hair, you can refer to Quantrimang's suggestion below to choose the appropriate trimming tool:

1. If your baby boy's hair is thin and thin, you don't need a trimmer to cut it.
2. If your boy's hair is long and thick, trimmer is the best choice to cut and trim his hair.

The steps for cutting hair with trimmer are as follows:

1. Step 1: You should spray a little water on the hair before starting the hair cutting process for children. This makes it easier to manipulate as well as create softness for the baby's hair.
2. Step 2: You move the trimmer around to cut and shave the hair short for both sides of the baby's head. Note: The rule of movement of the trimmer is from bottom to top and the trimmer angle is at a 90 degree angle to the baby's head.

1. Step 3: You use the trimmer to move the trimmer from the bottom to the top to shape the nape of your baby's hair. Direction of the trimmer at a 90 degree angle to the child's head will make it easier to manipulate during the haircut.

During the cutting process, you can adjust the trimming comb (aka length comb) with the trimmer to make the hair shorter. The longer the root size of the trimmer, the more hair is cut and vice versa.

1. Step 4: You use the trimmer (can be combined with a comb) to cut the bangs for children.
2. Step 5: You remove the trimmed comb, use a trimmer to gently shave the sides of the sideburns (located above the ears) to complete the hair cutting process for children with trimmer.

If you have the skills to cut hair mature, you can completely combine using the trimmer and comb to comfortably style hair for boys as you like. You can refer to the video illustration below to understand how to use a hair trimmer for children:

Use scissors to cut hair

The trimmer often gives you a sense of constriction during the trimming process. Therefore, the advantage of using scissors to cut hair for boys is: You can unleash unlimited creativity of your child's hairstyle to your liking.

However, it is also because of the creative comfort factor during the haircut that you are very likely to create a lack of uniformity in the length of the hair when using scissors. In addition, cutting children's hair with scissors is also risky and unsafe by using a trimmer, especially when children are too hyperactive or show fearful attitude during the haircut.

You can refer to the steps to use scissors to cut hair for children according to the instructions below:

1. Step 1: Use your hands or a comb to determine the length of hair that you need to cut.

1. Step 2: Put scissors in parallel with your hand and cut the long hair part on baby's head.

This process can be applied to cut the hair on the top of the head, the sides of the head, the nape and bangs of the child.

Note: You need to align how the hair on both sides of the baby's head is balanced in terms of length.

It can be seen that using scissors to cut hair requires certain skills and ingenuity from fathers and mothers. So, the advice that Quantrimang has for you is: Use a trimmer to create the best hairstyle for your guy.

2. Which hair clipper for baby is good?

Obviously, the use of trimmer will help parents easily create beautiful hair styles for their boys and ensure the safety of children during the haircut. But the question for parents here is: What type of hair clippers should be used for children? Quantrimang would like to recommend you the Philips HC1055 hair clipper for your reference in the process of considering and selecting the right product.

The Philips HC1055 hair clipper uses the battery to operate. Thus, you can use the device flexibly without worrying about the hassle of wires. Advantages of this hair clipper are: Smooth operation, no noise; adjust the comb to different lengths, helping parents easily create the right hairstyle for their baby; The casing is waterproof, ensuring durability and safety for the user.

You finished reading the article "Teach parents how to have a simple haircut for boys at home" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
