

Telegram surpasses WhatsApp's face on the AppStore free app rankings

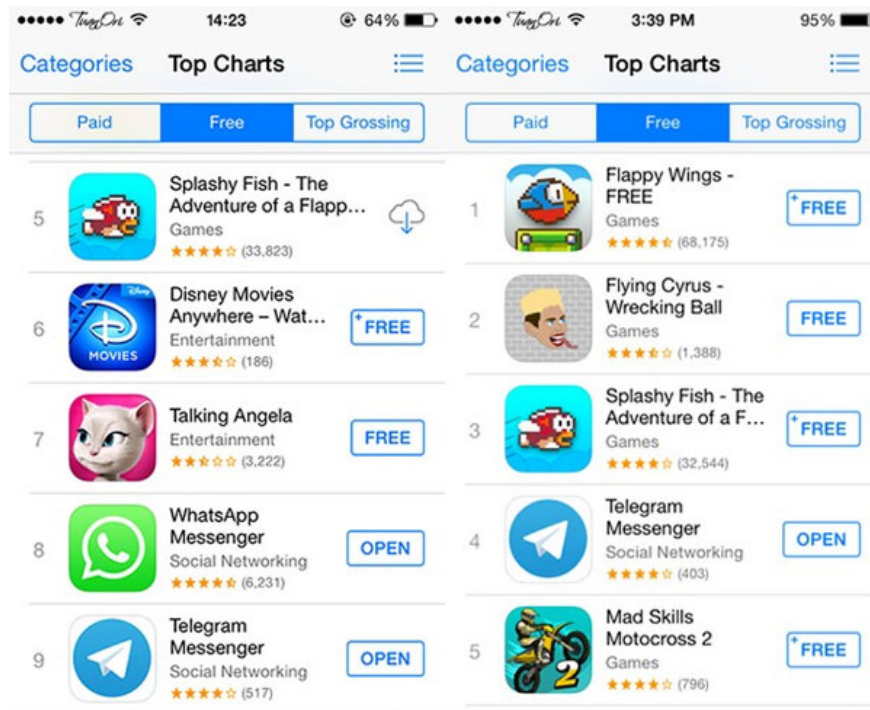

After the news of WhatsApp acquisition of Facebook spread, Telegram's free messaging application has experienced significant growth.

After the news of WhatsApp acquisition of Facebook spread, Telegram's free messaging application has experienced significant growth.

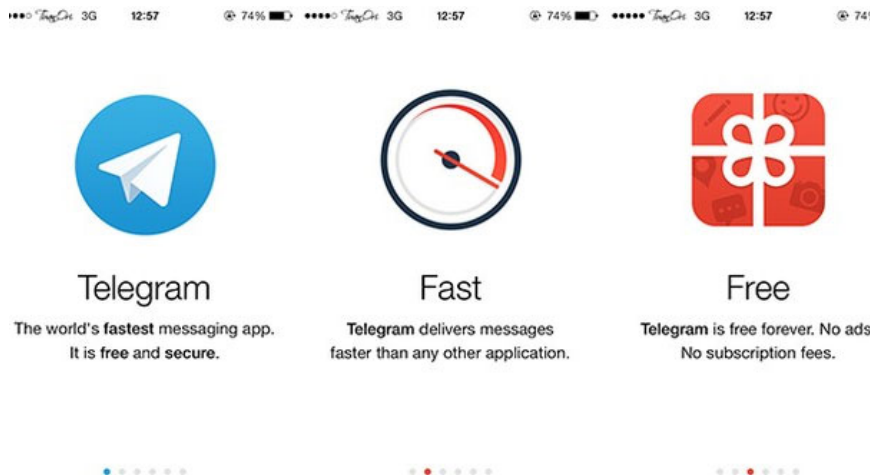

WhatsApp, the world's largest messaging application, was acquired by Facebook for $ 19 billion on February 19. News about the application is flooded with newspapers, users are still waiting to change after returning to the social networking site, recently another messaging application has surpassed WhatsApp on the chart. Apple.

The messaging application like WhatsApp to more than 90% is Telegram quickly ranked No. 4 free app rankings at the American Appstore and ranked 9th in the ranking of Vietnam Appstore. This rapid growth was recorded after only 5 days of news about the acquisition of WhatsApp.

Last year, Facebook made a big deal when it acquired the popular Instagram image social network. After the news appeared, many similar Instagram apps like Vine also achieved significant growth. It can be seen that every time Facebook makes a purchase, users are concerned about the uniformity, stability and exploitation, use and advertising issues that Facebook can apply on these applications. So they often look for the same alternative applications as possible.

Telegram has a design that is not much different from WhatsApp, from the message frame to the sent icon. This application is committed to providing permanent free service and never have ads. At the same time Telegram also confidently affirmed that their messaging service is faster than the existing OTT applications on the market today.

You finished reading the article "Telegram surpasses WhatsApp's face on the AppStore free app rankings" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.