

Televzr app downloads and syncs Youtube videos from your computer via phone easily

Televzr is a completely free application, developed by 3205 Inc. This application provides a solution for managing and syncing views, downloading videos from YouTube to and from your computer and smartphone.

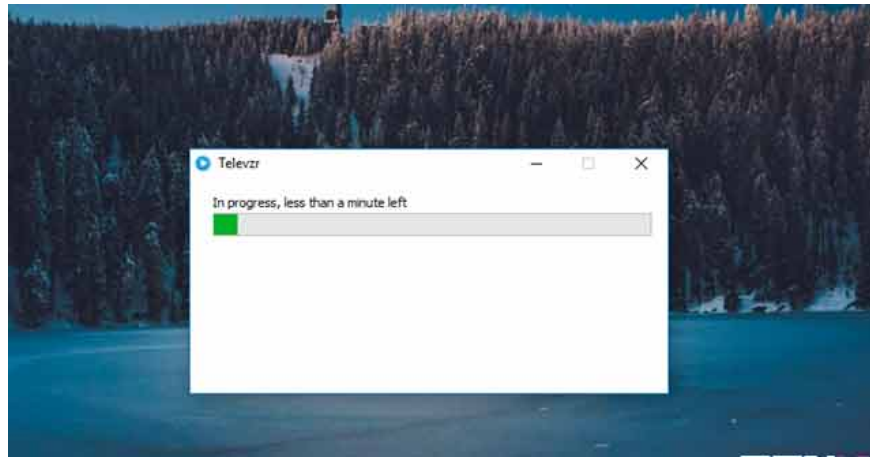

Normally watching and managing YouTube videos on smartphones or computers are two things that are not related to each other. However, for some reason, many people like to sync video playback between phone and computer or vice versa. If before, to synchronize or download videos, we will need the help of connecting cables. However, in the technology age like today, using connecting cables seems to be obsolete and past, because now you have the help from applications such as Televzr will be a suggestion for you. .

Televzr is a completely free application, developed by 3205 Inc. This application provides a solution for managing and syncing views, downloading videos from YouTube to and from your computer and smartphone. Specific usage is as follows.

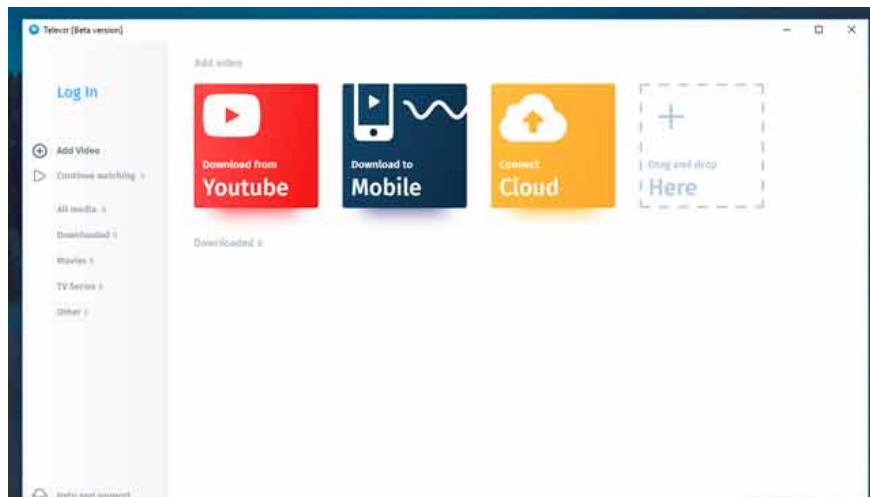

Step 1 : Use the browser on your computer and access this address and download the installation package corresponding to the computer operating system you are using.

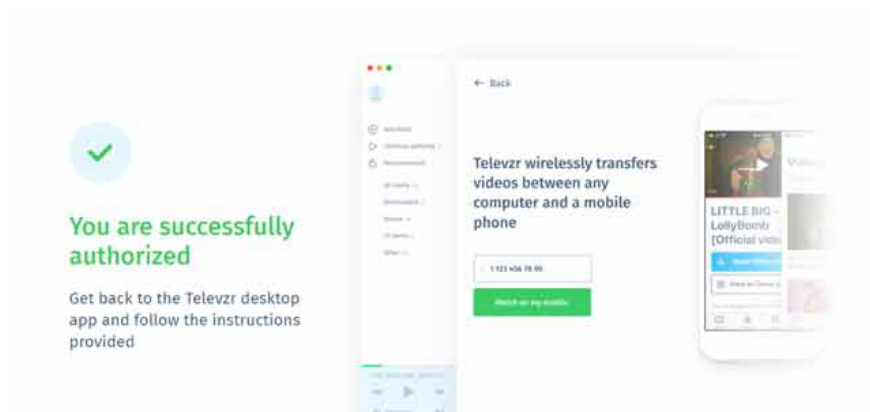

After downloading to the computer is complete, you start the application to install the system for Televzr. The installation takes place completely automatically and requires an internet connection.

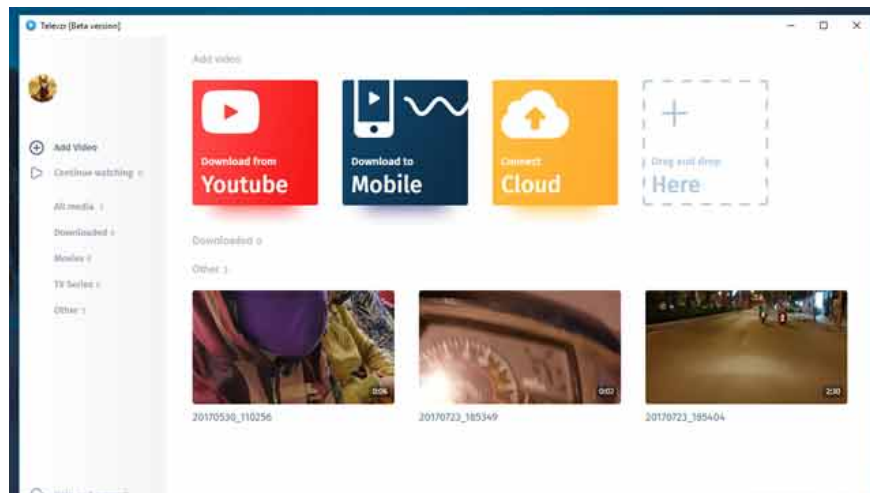

Step 2 : After all the installation, Televzr's main interface will appear. Now click on "Log in" on the right side of the screen to proceed to login to the application.

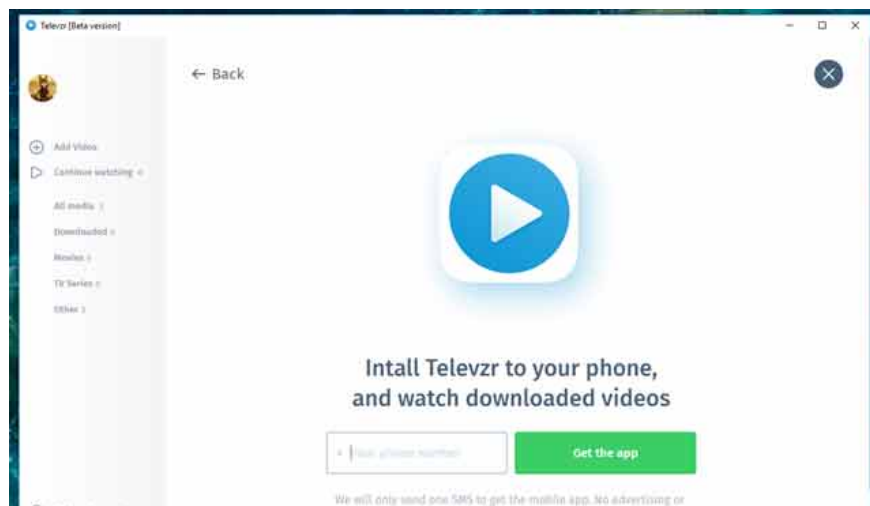

To login to Televzr you can only use your Google account to login. If you don't have a Google account, you can take some time to create an account with the following instructions: How to sign up for Gmail, create and create a Google account

After logging in and linking your Google account to Televzr, the application will scan and display the videos stored in your account into the Televzr interface.

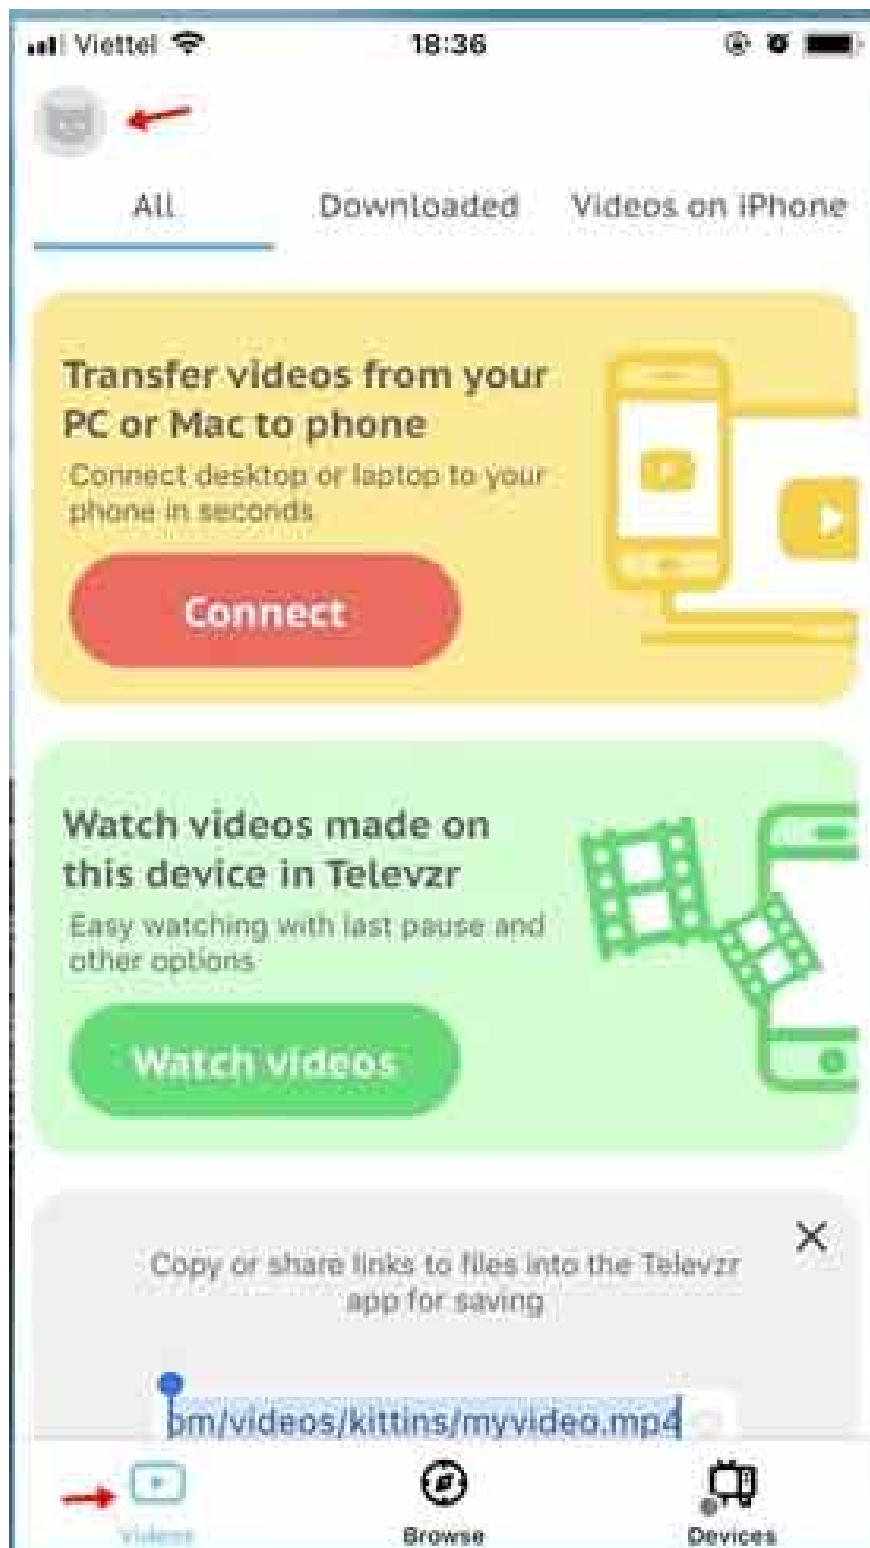

Step 3 : After scanning the video via computer, your next step is to click Download to Mobile option and enter your phone number in order for Televzr to send the download link for the smartphone you are using. . If necessary, you can go to the App Store and find and download the app if you like.

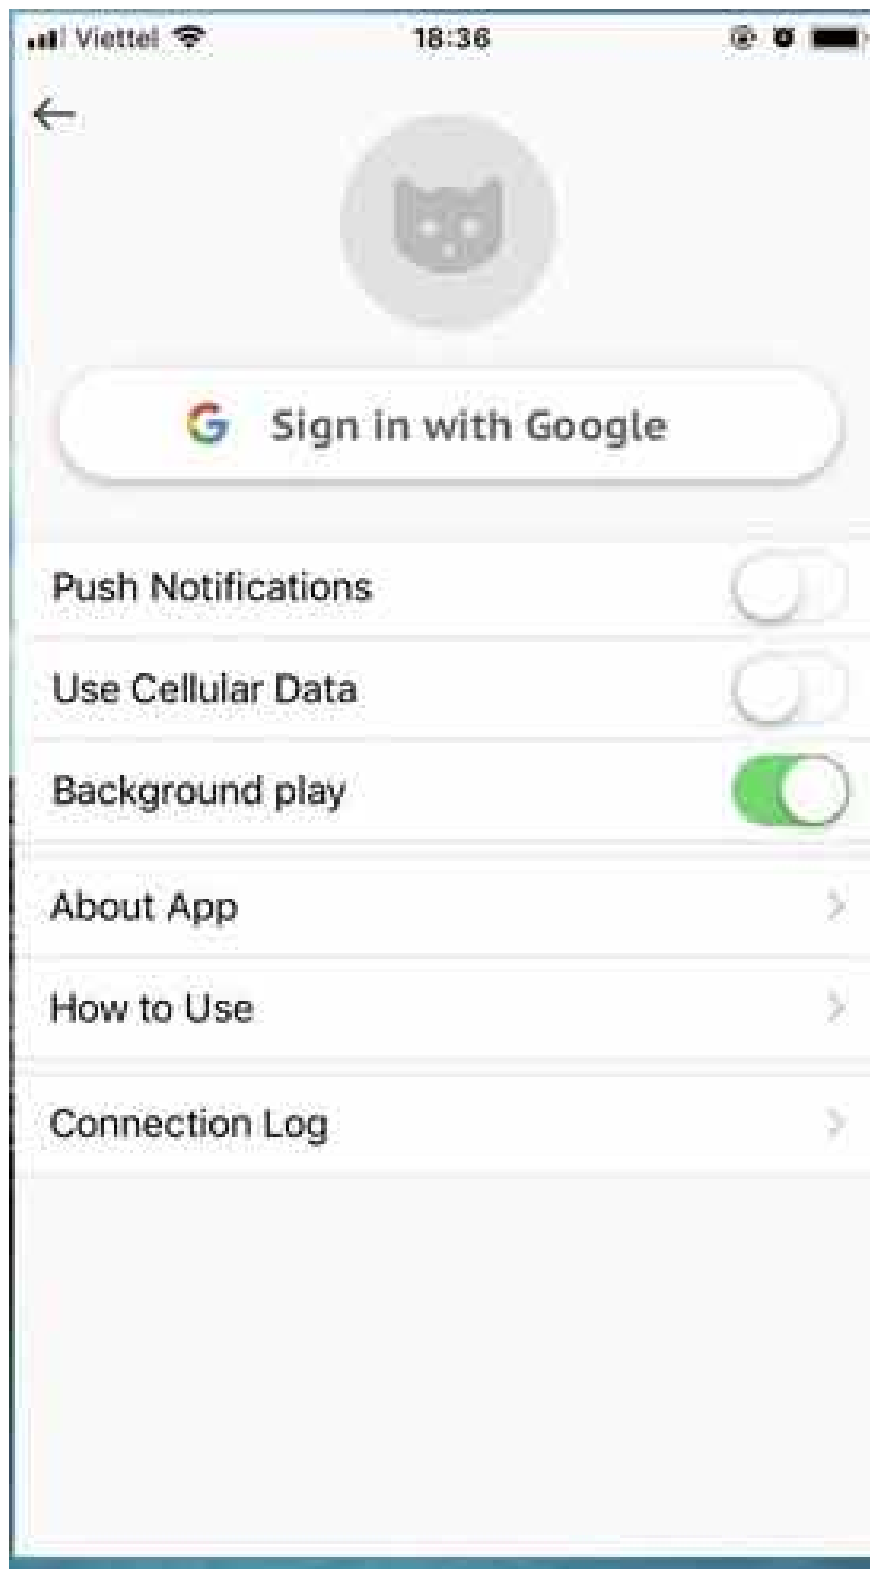

You can also download this application on smartphones. Currently Televzr has also supported on the two most popular platforms today are iOS and Android.

After completing the installation, start the application and click the Videos tab , then click on the avatar icon in the upper left corner of the interface.

Continue to click Sign in With Google and use your Google account to login. Note that Google accounts on mobile Televzr and computers must be synchronized.

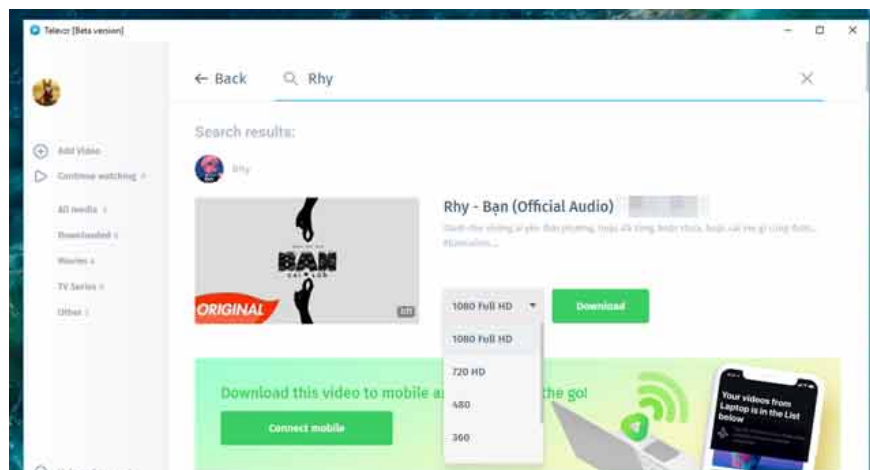

After successful login, the system will notify users of the connection between Televzr on mobile and the computer will display.

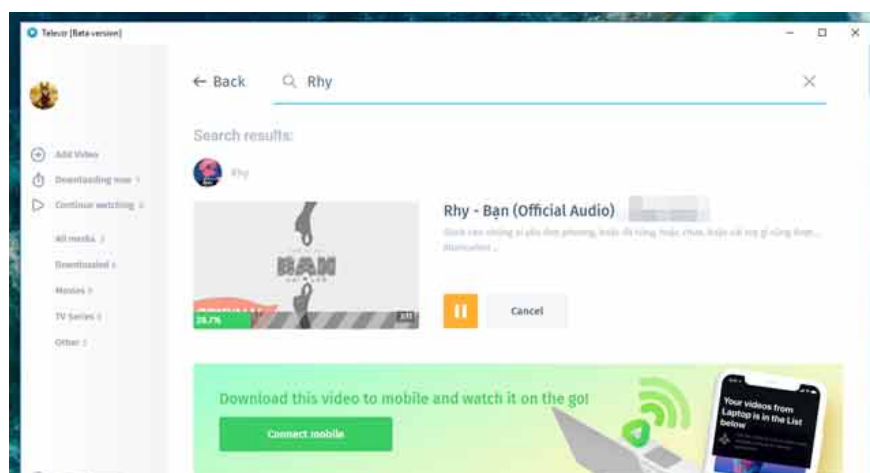

Step 4 : Your job is simply to click the Download from Youtube option , enter keywords related to the video you need to watch / download and press the ENTER key. When the results appear, click the Prepare to download option .

This will take a few seconds for Televzr to scan and display the list of video quality options for you to choose, when done, press Download.

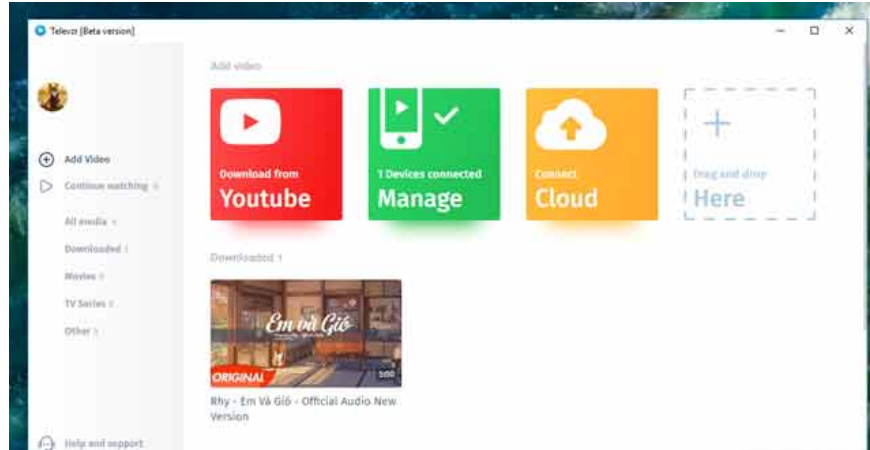

The download process takes place.

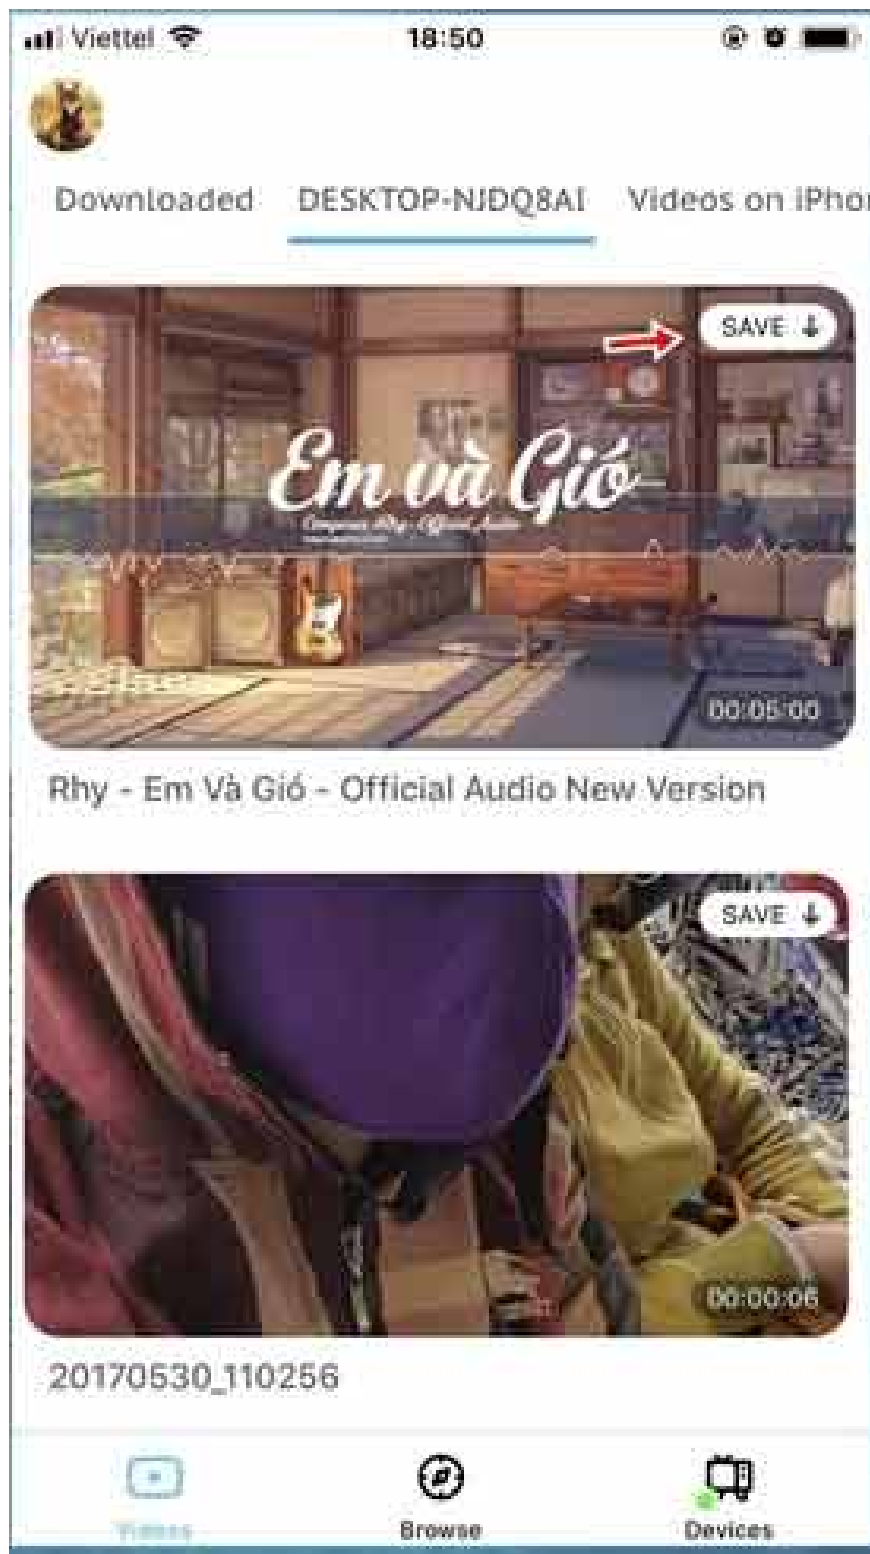

When finished, the video will be saved in the Downloaded section. And then you can review it if you want. Also in this section, you can delete the video, open the folder containing the downloaded video through the options when right-clicking the file.

At this time, video data will be displayed in the Televzr application on the phone, and you can save it on the device via the Save option.

Besides the option of finding, downloading and syncing videos from PC to smartphone, Televzr also offers additional options to link and manage videos stored on Dropbox, iCloud and Google Drive via Connect Cloud option.

I wish you all success!

See more:

1. How to view Youtube videos from a floating window on Chrome
2. 11 ways to download videos on Youtube quickly and simply
3. 2 steps to help users view subtitles on YouTube

You finished reading the article "Televzr app downloads and syncs Youtube videos from your computer via phone easily" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.