

The announcement date of Windows Phone 8.1 has come very close

Good news for WP followers, the highly anticipated update of Windows Phone, called Windows Phone Blue, or Windows Phone 8.1 will be announced at the Microsoft Build conference on April 2.

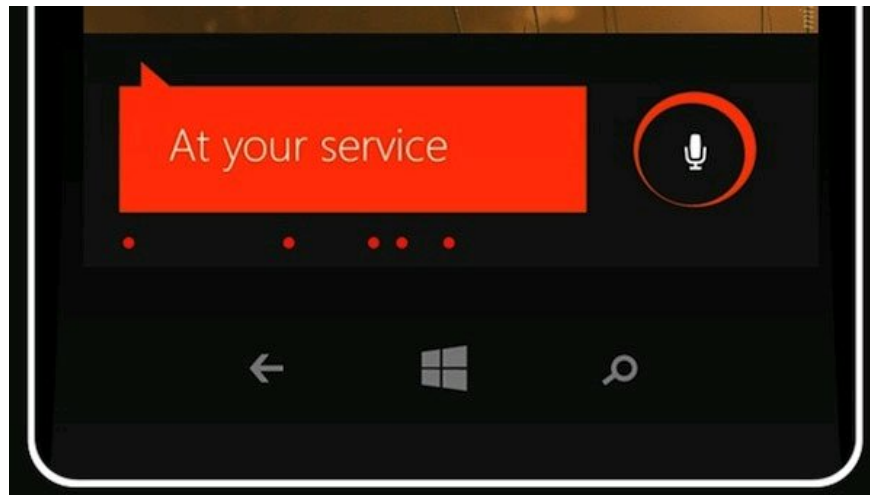

Good news for WP followers, the highly anticipated update of Windows Phone, called Windows Phone Blue, or Windows Phone 8.1 will be announced at the Microsoft Build conference on April 2.

Windows Phone 8.1 is coming soon

At this announcement, developers of Windows Phone can preview and provide feedback on the Windows Phone 8.1 software developer, developers can also use the software development kit. Windows Phone 8.1 to build their applications for this new operating system platform.

However, Microsoft only sends a limited number of invitations to developers to perform testing on Windows Phone 8.1 and those who choose have to sign an agreement called NDA to not reveal any information. outside.

Windows Phone 8.1 has entered the actual testing phase

With this test, developers can learn how to take advantage of all the latest features of the new Windows Phone operating system, but they are obliged not to reveal details of what is included. New operating system store.

Since the first rumors about Windows Phone 8.1 leaked, this new version of Microsoft's operating system has attracted strong interest not only from Windows Phone users but also from most public lovers. technology.

You finished reading the article "The announcement date of Windows Phone 8.1 has come very close" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.