

The bank has to suspend operations because of the cat's actions

A bank sent an email to suspend operations shortly after an intruding cat-bear family attacked the bank.

1. Pleasures cannot be more 'horror' than that of the ancients
2. 10 prehistoric giant animals are easily confused with dinosaurs

A bank sent an email to suspend operations shortly after an intruding cat-bear family attacked the bank.

A bank in Toronto sent a letter to its customers explaining that they would have to close a few weeks to overcome the consequences of the strange attack of a cat-bear family.

Specifically, a letter to customers of the RBC branch in the Hillcrest-Bracondale area was spread rapidly on social networking on Thursday and revealed the reason behind the bank was closed since 23 months. 8 is due to a cat-bear family broke into and broke this bank ceiling,

The letter was signed by Stephen Clark, the branch manager and said: 'The repair work is expected to be completed by the end of October.'

Bank spokesman Mark Hamill told the Toronto Star: "They have entered the building from the roof, which is a true story."

'Loss is quite serious and can't be fixed quickly' - he said.

Currently, Toronto has been dealing with a range of cat bear issues in recent months. A cat bear happened to be returned by the camera in May when it appeared through a ceiling hole in the baggage control area at Toronto Pearson International Airport.

You finished reading the article "The bank has to suspend operations because of the cat's actions" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.