1. Zedge Ringtones & Wallpapers

The Zedge app allows you to personalize and personalize your Android phone. To date, it has over 300 million users worldwide.

Besides its vast image library, Zedge also provides users with a wide variety of sounds and ringtones for their Android devices. With the Zedge app, you can easily find your favorite music by searching through separate categories divided by genre. Zedge supports users in customizing ringtones for individual contacts, message notifications, alarms, default ringtones, etc., with many new, unique, and copyrighted sounds.

2. New Ringtones Free

If you're bored with the default notification sounds and ringtones on your phone, then New Ringtones Free 2019 is the ringtone app that will make the sounds on your device more attractive and varied.

This app compiles over 10,000 of the most popular ringtones and notification sounds for Android devices, offering a wide variety of high-quality options for users to set as their ringtones. New Ringtones also updates with hundreds of new songs based on user requests. Therefore, you won't have any trouble finding the hottest, trendiest, and most sought-after ringtones currently available.

In addition, New Ringtones is lightweight and does not consume much system resources when running.

3. Ringtone Maker by Big Bang Inc.

Unlike the two ringtone creation apps we mentioned above, Ringtone Maker truly allows users to edit and design their own ringtones. The app lets you copy, cut, and paste audio segments from your favorite MP3, FLAC, OGG, WMA, AAC, etc. files and save them for use as ringtones, alarms, notifications, and more.

Ringtone Maker has a simple and user-friendly interface, even for beginners. Simply open your favorite audio track in the app, select the start and end points by sliding the arrows on the screen, trim, and save it for use on your device. Besides its powerful trimming and merging features, Ringtone Maker allows users to edit the new ringtone to make it louder than the original.

4. Audiko: Ringtones, Notifications and Alarm Sounds

Audiko is arguably a highly professional ringtone creation app, boasting a database of millions of free music and sounds. Instead of just the default beeping or music on your device, you can now easily customize your ringtone to make your phone truly unique.

With a library of pre-cut ringtones in various genres, you simply listen and download them to set. However, if that's not enough to satisfy you, Audiko also provides smart tools to help you cut and combine sounds from the data library and transform them into a ringtone that reflects your personal style.

However, a minor drawback is that Audiko currently limits users to working with only one audio format: MP3.

5. Ringtone Maker - MP3 Cutter

The last name on our list of great ringtone creation apps we want to introduce to you is Ringtone Maker - MP3 Cutter. Without a large music library or a flashy interface, Ringtone Maker - MP3 Cutter is a compact and practical ringtone creation app.

Upon installation, the application will automatically scan and retrieve audio files in MP3, WAV, AAC, AMR, M4A, and other formats from your device. To edit and create new ringtones, Ringtone Maker - MP3 Cutter provides a cutting and splicing tool where you select the start and end points. If you are worried about leaving too many extra or redundant segments, you can zoom in on each audio segment multiple times and cut precisely down to the millisecond.
