

The beta version of Windows 8 will appear in September

The Winrumors site reported that Microsoft is about to complete the Milestone 2 phase in its plan to develop a new generation operating system for PC and is expected to release beta within 7 months.

The Winrumors site reported that Microsoft is about to complete the Milestone 2 phase in its plan to develop a new generation operating system for PC and is expected to release beta within 7 months.

>>> Windows 8 will focus heavily on games

Illustration. (Internet source)

The stages of Windows operating system development often go through steps Milestone 1, 2, 3 and then switch to beta, RC, RTM and then come to the official version for consumers. The Milestone 3 phase begins next month and is expected to be completed in 3 months. The first beta will be released by Microsoft this summer.

Windows 8 is focused on Microsoft for both PCs and tablets. The operating system runs on a platform with ARM chips, focusing on gaming and 3D interface.

Tablet Roadmap

Roadmaps are provided for general planning purposes only and do not represent a commitment by Dell.

Roadmap for Dell tablet development.

According to Dell's plan, which was leaked not long ago, the tablet bearing the Peju code name running Windows 8 will be available in the market sometime next January.

You finished reading the article "The beta version of Windows 8 will appear in September" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.