

The duo application of Whirlpool and Yummly will help limit food waste

Back in 2017, Whirlpool bought Yummly, a smart recipe network containing more than 2 million recipes. Now, Whirlpool and Yummly application couple promise to make a housewife revolution in 2018.

Back in 2017, Whirlpool bought Yummly, a smart recipe network containing more than 2 million recipes. Now, Whirlpool and Yummly application couple promise to make a housewife revolution in 2018.

The Whirlpool and Yummly apps have been adjusted with smarter features, which can help you turn things into small fridges into a dish when you don't know what to eat, how to cook. The application will use the smartphone's camera to scan through refrigerator materials or things to cook in the Coolbox section, then create the appropriate recipe for you.

Specifically, once you have decided what you will cook, the recipe is set up, the information will be pushed to a Whirlpool cooking platform on the app. A small, 5-inch touch screen will display step-by-step instructions for each stage of the recipe implementation.

Many housewives hope that the application will help the food variety, more delicious, save time and especially avoid wasting excess food.

See more:

1. Application of oil-free air compressors in dentistry
2. Top 9 interesting mobile apps you may have never known
3. Instructions for installing Android apps on Chromebook

You finished reading the article "The duo application of Whirlpool and Yummly will help limit food waste" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
