

The fight between flamethrowers and 'freezing guns', which gun will win?

A fierce battle between hot and cold, fire and ice will take place. You predict which side will win.

A fierce battle between hot and cold, fire and ice will take place. You predict which side will win.

If fire and ice "clash" each other, what will happen. This war has been recreated by the boys on Youtube channel TheBackyardScientist with 2 special "guns".

The simple flamethrower is equipped with a fuel sprayer and a ignition device with homemade floss to turn on and off at will.

Freezing guns with simple structure, liquid nitrogen bottles with open and closed valves to freeze everything.

Check out the video below to see the results of this war.

During this test, the frozen gun won. But is the result always the same?

MythBusters program of Discovery TV channel also simulated the battle between these two "opponents" but the results were the exact opposite.

You finished reading the article "The fight between flamethrowers and 'freezing guns', which gun will win?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

