

The giant pyramid valley in Europe makes world history rewrite

In the small Bosnian country, archaeologists have discovered a valley with the largest pyramids in the world ever discovered.

In the small Bosnian country, archaeologists have discovered a valley with the largest pyramids in the world ever discovered.

This " valley of pyramids " is located in Bosnian city ??of Visoko with huge pyramids: a 220m tall pyramid, 190m high Pyramid, 90m high Pyramid, needle pyramid worshiping Mother Earth and Pyramid of Love. The pyramid of the Sun, the Moon pyramid and the Dragon pyramid are all in a triangle. All pyramids are built towards the north.

The pyramid complex in Bosnia is not only mysterious about its appearance, the geological radar measurements and the heat of the corridors and rooms inside the pyramid also reveal the strange.

When analyzing the rectangular stones of the Sun pyramid scientists were astounded to discover that they were different from European rocks and were obviously built by humans like concrete blocks. Test results and analysis of stone samples show that the pyramids in Bosnia were built 20,000 years ago.

In this valley, there existed very special and mysterious long tunnels no less than pyramids. These tunnels were built with gravel and sand, divided into rooms, an artificial lake and a long corridor of thousands of kilometers. The intersections are perpendicularly built into complex networks in the ground. Research on soil shows that the soil is influenced by plants, fungi and other living organisms.

According to legend, these underground labyrinth tunnels are the connection between the great pyramid schemes in this valley.

The pyramid valley in Bosnia is said to be one of the most important ancient sites in Europe.

As soon as it was discovered, the pyramid valley in Bosnia received the attention of scientists all over the world. During the first International Scientific Conference in August 2008, scientists from 13 countries stated that Bosnian pyramids are architectural phenomena and will be studied further to understand the origin and construction purpose.

Three years later, in the second seminar in September 2011, scholars thought that it was necessary to rewrite history books, update the existence, date and purpose of building pyramids in Bosnia. The findings of pyramids and tunnels in Visoko valley show that people know too little about ancient civilizations that existed on earth.
