

The magic card table like in Yu-Gi-Oh! appeared in real life

A Twitter user named Reo in Japan posted a video recording a scene playing cards on a special touch-sensitive desk. When a player plays a card or each time a game is transferred, the table plays the corresponding light and sound.

A Twitter user named Reo in Japan posted a video recording a scene playing cards on a special touch-sensitive desk. When a player plays a card or each time a game is transferred, the table plays the corresponding light and sound.

With this 'magic' table, instead of playing 'vegetarian' cards on the classic table and available in Konami style, players can play Yu-Gi-Oh! It's full of magic just like in stories and movies.

Yu-Gi-Oh card game table! traditional.

Play Yu-Gi-Oh! magic of Japanese people.

As soon as it was uploaded to Twitter, this unique game table of Reo made netizens extremely excited and wanted to experience the experience of playing card magic on it once. Many people hope it will soon become the future of Yu-Gi-Oh !.

Would you like to have a magic card on this table?

See more:

1. Vehicles run by the air of Egyptian student groups, run and drop the station without wasting fuel
2. Duo, accessories that help laptops have a second screen
3. Invite a Japanese indie web game experience inspired by turning on / off extremely interesting flashlight

You finished reading the article "The magic card table like in Yu-Gi-Oh! appeared in real life" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.