

The Mexican government announced the evidence that people used to communicate with aliens

Recently, the Mexican government has published a series of writings and images discovered in the Calakmul ruins that are believed to be evidence that the Mayans used to communicate with aliens.

Whether extraterrestrials exist and humans who have been in contact with them is one of the biggest mysteries of humanity that causes scientists a headache.

1. Decipher the mysterious evidence of an alien encounter at Roswell in 1947
2. Mysterious cosmic signals of aliens challenge the scientific world

Recently, the Mexican government has published a series of writings and images discovered in the Calakmul ruins that are believed to be evidence that the Mayans used to communicate with aliens, their entire news will be archaeologists go to research and testify. This makes more and more people believe that aliens really exist and people have been exposed to these strange creatures.

Evidence reveals that the Mayans used to communicate with aliens.(Photo: Acient Code)

The National Department of Historical and Human Anthropology (INAH) has discovered special pieces of stone that look like a dish in Mexico. This is considered the discovery that revealed the secret of Earth history that humanity has tried to hide. According to the researchers, these stones were made by the Mayans and discovered by humans about 80 years ago.

Images depicting aliens on antiquities.(Photo: Acient Code)

These 80-year-old national secrets are being published by the Mexican government. But before that, in Germany's Saarbrucken meeting in June 2011, Klaus Dona and Dr. Nassim Haramein made the first image of these stones for the first time. They marked symbols in each area on the pictures of those stones to facilitate discussion and description of each detail.

The image of the stone with many strange details.

1. Two circles describe the globe and the atmosphere.
2. A flying saucer.
3. A comet or a small planet.
4. A special spaceship, designed to pierce or deflect comets.
5. An astronaut.
6. A spaceship is intelligently controlled.

Previously, these archaeological works were once published, and they became part of a documentary directed by Raul Julia-Levy and Juan Carlos Rulfo.

You finished reading the article "The Mexican government announced the evidence that people used to communicate with aliens" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.