

The Microsoft Access test has the answer P9

The following Access database quiz will provide you with useful information on this topic, invite readers to try the same questions below.

1. Sentence 1. What capabilities does Access have?
 1. Provide tools to create and store data
 2. Provide tools to create, update and exploit data
 3. Provides data creation, storage and exploitation tools
 4. Provides tools to create, store, update and exploit data
2. Question 2. Which table below is the window structure window?
 1. Part of the school definition and the properties section of the school
 2. Field Name (Field Name), Data Type (Data Type) and field description (Description)
 3. Field Name (Field Name), Data Type (Data Type) and field properties (Field Properties)
 4. Field Name (Field Name), Data Type (Field Type), field description (Description) and field properties (Field Properties)
3. Question 3. Which mode allows the data update on the board simply?
 1. Data page display mode
 2. Form mode
 3. Design mode
 4. Another answer
4. Question 4. In Access, you want to create the form using the wizard, we choose:
 1. Create form for using Wizard
 2. Create form by using Wizard
 3. Create form with using Wizard
 4. Create form in using Wizard
5. Question 5. In Access, to create a link between two tables, those two tables must have two fields that satisfy the condition:
 1. Have the same name
 2. Has the same data type
 3. At least one field is the primary key
 4. Both A, B, C
6. Question 6. Explain why when establishing the relationship between two fields of two tables, but Access does not accept?
 1. Because the table has not yet entered data
 2. Because these two tables are in use (open the table window)
 3. Because the two fields are involved in a different relationship string (data type), different length (field size)
 4. Verses B and C are correct
7. Question 7. Which statement is wrong in the statements after talking about the questionnaire?
 1. Arithmetic expressions are used to describe calculation fields
 2. Text constants are written in single quotes

3. Group functions are functions such as: SUM, AVG, MIN, MAX, COUNT
8. Question 8. To create a report, what questions should be answered?
 1. What report was created to extract information? What data from the questionnaires and tables will be included in the report? How will the data be grouped?
 2. What report was created to extract information? What data from the questionnaires and tables will be included in the report? How will the data be grouped? How to create a report?
 3. What report was created to extract information? What data from the questionnaires and tables will be included in the report? How will the data be grouped? How is the report form?
 4. What report was created to extract information? What data from the questionnaires and tables will be included in the report?
9. Question 9. To quickly create a report, usually choose one of the following ways:
 1. Users design themselves
 2. Use report creation wizard
 3. Use the report creation wizard and then modify the report design created in the previous step
 4. All of these are wrong

You finished reading the article "The Microsoft Access test has the answer P9" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
