

The most expensive animals on the planet, the most expensive ones cost $ 4.1 million

Surely you will be shocked to know their prices.

To own one of the animals on the list below, one has to spend several hundred thousand or even millions. Surely you will be shocked to know their prices.

Sheep Deveronvale Perfection - £ 231,000

Deveronvale Perfection is a sheep in Scotland, has a stout body, very good for breeding. At an auction in 2009, the sheep Deveronvale Perfection, then only 8 months old, was sold at a record price of £ 231,000 (about VND 7 billion). Deveronvale Perfection is the most expensive sheep in the world.

Tibetan clam dog - £ 945,000

Tibetan clam dogs are considered descendants of dogs used to hunt in ancient tribes in Central Asia.

This breed has a large size, strong and very loyal. In 2011, a billionaire in China bought a Tibetan Mastiff dog at a price of up to £ 945,000 (equivalent to nearly VND 29 billion).

Armando pigeon - more than 1.4 million

This is a 5-year-old Belgian race pigeon, which has won many prestigious awards at international bird races. Armando is called "the best street dove of all time" and is like "Lewis Hamilton in bird racing".

The most recent competitions that this "Racer" won the championship were the 2018 Ace Pigeon Championship, Pigeon Olympiad 2019 and the Angouleme tournament.

Currently, Armando retired and became the father of many young birds.

In an auction, an unnamed Chinese giant spent a record amount of more than $ 1.4 million (equivalent to more than VND 32 billion) to own Armando.

Tuna - 3.1 million USD

At the first auction in Tokyo's new fish market, "Tuna King" Kiyoshi Kimuara spent a record $ 3.1 million (equivalent to over VND 70 billion) to buy a giant bluefin tuna. , weighs 278 kg.

Bluefin tuna is a species with very high nutritional value. They are used as ingredients for the most delicious and attractive sushi. However, now bluefin tuna is in danger of extinction because of being hunted too much.

You finished reading the article "The most expensive animals on the planet, the most expensive ones cost $ 4.1 million" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
