

The necessary resources for Mobile Warfare regime

In the new update of Lien Quan Mobile in late May, the Tu Chien competition mode will be updated not inferior to the traditional ranking mode.

Fan 'intestine' of Lien Quan Mobile will come here to experience a completely new battle mode called Tu Chien, besides the traditional ranking mode. The life and death arena will be divided into 5 teams, 2 people per team. After selecting a champion, the player will be placed in random elemental battles and participate in the match.

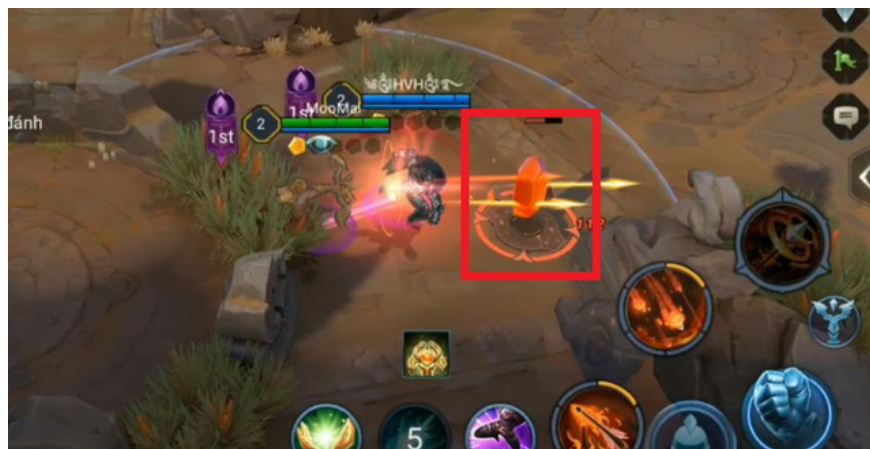

The time of the game will be 8 minutes and at the end of the game, the rating will be calculated based on the score. During the game, you can go outside the map to find equipment for yourself. Some resources will play a key role, helping gamers to increase their strength, attack opponents to get a chance to win a rank. So what are those resources in the Death mode?

Elemental stone

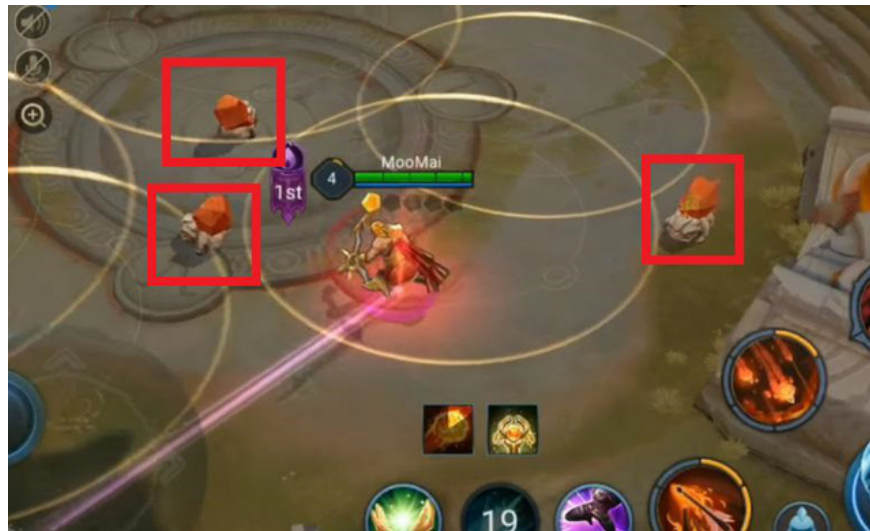

Please pay attention to the yellow points displayed on the map are elemental stones. Elemental stones will give players gold, EXP, heal, and a small percentage will be buffed.

When approaching the center of the map, the blue circle areas will randomly display the golden buff circle on the ground. If standing in the gold ring will receive double gold. The location of these buffs will change once after a period of time.

In addition, the circle area will have the Elemental Beast , carrying Stone Gods on its back. Just pay attention and touch them, they will run away and leave Stone God and you will also receive a large amount of gold.

Monster monsters can appear in 5 random positions of 5 business battles. After defeating the Monster, you can get more gold and get another BUFF 60 seconds revival. Within that 60 seconds, the death hero will revive after 2 seconds at that location with 70% of the maximum health.
