Windows 10 October 2018 Update Update again, the error of overwriting the file

After receiving user feedback on the latest Windows 10 October 2018 Update (version 1809), the pop-up warns of duplicate files and asks if the user wants to overwrite, keep or remove Whether or not to do so while extracting the ZIP file does not appear again, Microsoft has already checked and officially confirmed this new error.

But Microsoft also confirmed that user data is not lost even if the files are overwritten without the user's permission.

Normally, when extracting a ZIP file in Windows to a certain folder, if there is any decompressed content from the duplicate ZIP file, a message will appear to warn and give the option to override, retain, or skip. But on Windows 10 1809, in the process of extracting a ZIP file if a duplicate file appears, no message will be issued and the system will automatically overwrite the file or not perform any operation.

In the process of extracting a ZIP file to a certain folder, the above message will appear if there is a duplicate file.

According to Microsoft, the error occurs when users perform one of the following 3 operations:

1. Copy the file from a ZIP file to a folder.
2. Move items in the ZIP file to the folder.
3. Copy the contents file of the ZIP file to a protected folder.

To avoid this error on Windows 10 1809, users should limit extracting files from a ZIP file to a new folder location.

Microsoft is currently working on a bug fix and will soon launch in early November.
