

The old millionaires 'little kids' have not yet turned 18 and have made good money

Not only are they richer than you, these young millionaires also have the knowledge and lessons that few people own.

For children who are only 10 years old and have been dubbed 'millionaires', this seems to sound strange, because with this age, there are children who are still unsatisfied, who have not come yet, how can they become a millionaire.

However, this is entirely possible in the era of technology development as the current storm. They are small owners, investors, entrepreneurs.

This is a list of young millionaires, girls, this boy may be a successful young entrepreneur in the field of technology, may also be the young actors who earn millions from less than 10 years old. .

1. Evan owns the channel EvanTube

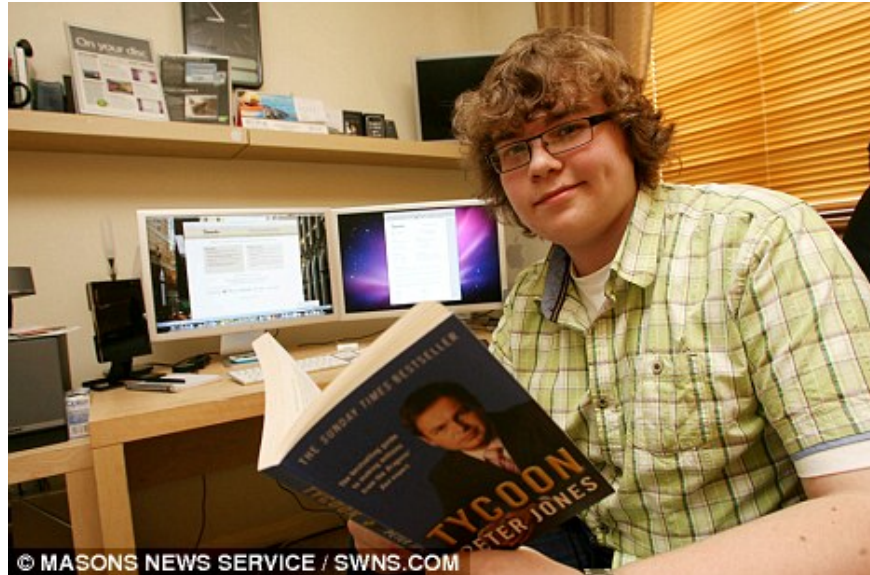

With the help of his father, the 8-year-old boy launched his own Youtube channel called Evan Tube, so he earned $ 1.3 million per year from toy reviews videos, or the problem that the girls' age is interested and passionate about. Thanks to interesting topics and some of the effects his father used while filming, he helped him gain a loyal fan base of his age and grew up together.

Although he is famous, but Evan is not aware of his popularity, "Evan is still like a normal 3rd grader, going to school, doing homework, going out to play with friends, going "When karate channels started to grow, people sometimes recognized Evan on the road. But I didn't think he knew he was famous," Jared said.

2. Christian Owens

The Christian family said, the boy has been using computers well since he was 7 years old. By 2008, Christian began his first business with savings.

Christian's first job was to sell Mac Box Bundle, an Apple-specific Mac application software. Thanks to his sharp mind and business aptitude, Christian earned over $ 1 million in 2008.

In 2009 Christian stepped into the online advertising business, the result of the work that Christian made showed that he was definitely a talented entrepreneur. Although he earns a lot of money, he only works in the evening and on weekends to ensure time for studying.

3. Adam Hildreth

At 14, Hildreth and his friends created a social networking site called Dubit. The social networking site was gradually developed in the UK and by Adam Hildreth, at the age of 16, was $ 3.7 million.

Later, he founded Crisp software company to protect children from bad guys online.

4. Cameron Johnson

At the age of 11, Johnson's parents asked him to design an invitation card for a party in the neighborhood. Unexpectedly, these cards were loved by everyone in the neighborhood, and since then they started paying Johnson to ask him to design them personal cards for them. At the age of 14, Johnson opened the company 'Cheers and Tears' (translating: Smile and Tears), then switched to online advertising and software development. When in high school, his income reached 400 thousand USD.

5. Geoff, Dave, and Catherine Cook

They are 3 brothers and also co-founders of the famous social networking site 'MyYearbook'. This is a community network for young people sitting in school chairs. Initially, the trio created this website with the aim of creating a suitable space to make friends because they had just stepped into a new school. At that time, Catherine was only 15, Dave was 17 and Facebook was still not a brand familiar to every house like now. MyYearbook was so much more successful than expected, bringing huge commercial assets to the Geoff brothers.

6. Farrhad Acidwalla

Despite being quite young, Farrhad Acidwalla is the co-founder of Rockstah Media. This is a comprehensive advertising company. Acidwalla company owns 42 core and talented and enthusiastic employees, ready to help the boss conquer all the most difficult markets.

7. Emil Motycka

He founded his own company specializing in cutting grass and became a young millionaire by the age of 9 (then the company changed its name to Motycka Enterprises when Motycka turned 18). At that time, although young, Motycka often stayed up all night to complete both learning and making money. Sometimes, this guy only sleeps 4 hours a night.

8. Ryan of 'Ryan's Barkery'

As one of the few kids who aired 'Shark Tank' (a popular reality TV channel in the US) as an elementary school student, Ryan earned $ 25,000 or 25% of the company 's shares. your. Currently, Ryan, 12, is a young entrepreneur and founder of 'a dog treat bakery'.

The boy is building his business career in an industry (pampering pets). This model is completely unaffected by the economic crisis. Lesson learned? Looking for a specialized market for your product, it is waiting for you.

If you are thinking that you are too old to earn a million dollars? Think again. Experience and growth also have its own advantages, whether or not you really are passionate and determined.

See more:

1. The 20 bad habits of young people need to be fixed right before it's too late
2. 10 'unwritten' principles of self-made millionaires
3. If you want to succeed, don't turn yourself into one of these 5 types of people

You finished reading the article "The old millionaires 'little kids' have not yet turned 18 and have made good money" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.