

The process of forming Everest from 50 million years ago

Mount Everest is the highest mountain on Earth when compared to the sea level, formed about 50 million years ago, when the tectonic plate of Indian giant drifted north and crashed into the Eurasian plate larger than it .

Mount Everest is the highest mountain on Earth when compared to the sea level, formed about 50 million years ago, when the tectonic plate of Indian giant drifted north and crashed into the Eurasian plate larger than it .

1. You will be startled when watching the video describing the process of Earth's hotness in the past 100 years
2. What will happen if the wind stops blowing on Earth?

You finished reading the article "The process of forming Everest from 50 million years ago" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.